RHINELAND DISPUTE TAKES GRAVE TURN

GROWERS ARE PROTECTED IN TRADE TREATY

Arbitrary Duty Valuations to Be Used to Safeguard Canadian Producers

FINANCE MINISTER GIVES ASSURANCES

OTTAWA, March 12 (CP). — Arbitrary duty valuations will be used to protect Canadian fruit and vegetable growers from unfair competition from the United States, Finance Minister Dunning assured the House of Commons today when Conservatives criticized vegetable tariff reductions in the Canadian-American Trade Treaty.

Vegetable tariffs were discussed most of the afternoon when the treaty was considered in committee stage. Conservative Leader Bennett chided the Liberals on their use of dumping duties and claimed the Finance Minister's announcement was a vindication of actions taken by his Administration.

The Finance Minister did not agree. He said successive Liberal Governments had used dumping duties to protect Canadian producers of natural products. The present Government, he said, had cancelled many duty valuations of the Bennett Administration, believing they should be limited to natural products, being subjected to unfair competition.

PROTECTED LIST

Revenue Minister Ilsley, whose department sets duty valuations, said the treaty gave the Government ample power to protect Canadian producers. He said the maximum protection (tariff and dumping duties) which would be imposed under the treaty were as follows, with rates imposed by the Bennett Government in brackets: Apples, 76 per cent (106); cantaloupe, 203 per cent (283); cherries, 80 per cent (105); grapes, 76 per cent (100); peaches, 95 per cent (150); pears, 61 per cent (80); raspberries, 61 per cent (100); strawberries, 45 per cent (83); asparagus, 99 per cent (149); cabbage, 195 per cent (280); cauliflower, 69 per cent (250); celery, 61 per cent (150); lettuce, 76 per cent (166); onions, 108 per cent (150), and spinach, 61 per cent (55).

Neither the Finance nor the Revenue Minister would announce when dumping duties would be applied or to what extent. They said the best judgment of the Government would be exercised.

ROYAL WEDDING NOT IMMINENT

King's Message to Commons Customary at Commencement of Reign

LONDON, March 12 (CP). — The House of Commons agreed today to a motion by Neville Chamberlain to establish a select committee to consider the King's message to the Commons yesterday with relation to the civil list.

The Canadian Press learned authoritatively no special significance should be attached to the reference to the contingency of the King's marriage in His Majesty's communication.

MOTION CUSTOMARY

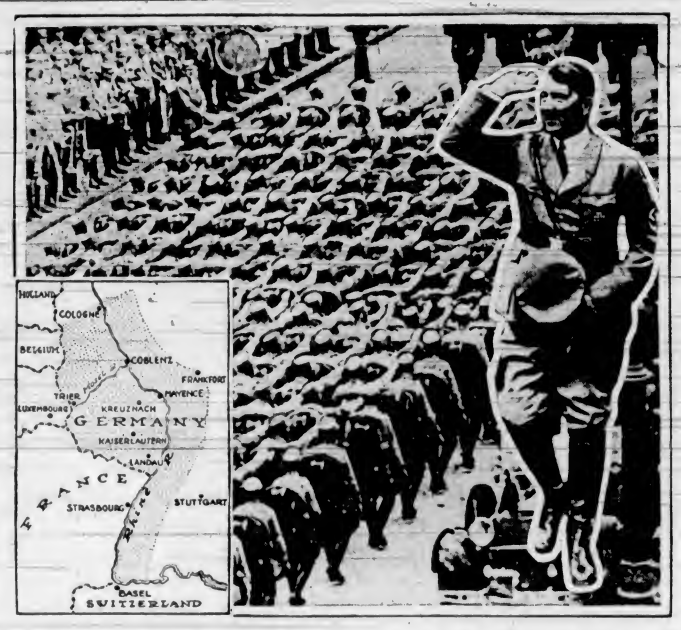

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, presenting his motion today, said it was customary at the start of each reign to set up a select committee to consider what provision should be made to maintain the dignity of the Crown. The Government of the day then put before the committee its own proposals, after which the committee thoroughly examined them and submitted a report to the House. When that had been done the House was enabled fully to discuss the committee's report. The committee proposed in the present motion included many members of long experience and great authority.

James Maxton, Labor, asked whether the report of the committee would come before the House in a form admitting freedom of discussion for amendment. The Chancellor replied in the affirmative.

Scraps Locarno Pact to Arm Rhineland

WIDESPREAD FLOODS ENDANGER LIVES AND HOMES IN ONTARIO

Five-Foot Wall of Water Races Through Main Street of Belleville—300 Homeless—Damage Now Estimated at $300,000—Bridge Collapses at Port Hope—States Also Suffer

TORONTO, March 12 (CP).—Driven from their homes by the most widespread floods Eastern and Central Ontario have experienced in 120 years, 400 families watched ice-dotted waters surge around their dwellings today and counted the cost at more than $300,000.

Hardest hit of the scores of cities, towns and villages affected, Belleville, a city of 14,000, was in serious plight, with five feet of water roaring down main streets, more than 300 homeless and a food shortage threatening.

No lives were lost in the floods that struck along a 780-mile front from Gananoque to Toronto, but several bedridden patients forced from their homes may die. No hope is held for two in Belleville.

Section Man Dies From Exposure in Belleville Floods

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 12 (CP).—First fatality in the worst flood in Belleville's history occurred late tonight when Archie Irwin, forty-two-year-old Canadian Pacific Railway section hand, died of exposure after falling in the ice-filled Moira River. He was directing a dynamiting gang on the river.

Memorial to King George To Be Statue

LONDON, March 12 (CP).—A memorial to King George should take the form of a statue of His Late Majesty in London and a philanthropic scheme which should benefit the whole country.

This decision was reached at an influential meeting at the Mansion House, convened by the Lord Mayor at the request of Prime Minister Baldwin. The Archbishop of Canterbury proposed the memorial should take such a form.

FRANCO-SOVIET PACT RATIFIED

Premier Sarraut's Government Supported in Senate By 226 to 48

PARIS, March 12.—The Senate tonight ratified the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact by the overwhelming majority of 226 to 48, thereby voting its confidence in the stand taken by Premier Sarraut's Government against Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland. Thirty-four senators refrained from voting.

The vote definitely aligned the world's largest army behind France in the event of an aggression by a European power. It was seen here as a stirring reply to Chancellor Hitler's criticism of the Franco-Soviet treaty.

STRESSES IMPORTANCE

The importance of the vote was stressed in the Senate by Premier Sarraut, who made it a vote of confidence in his Government. Only six senators opposed a motion to end the debate and bring the measure to an immediate vote as a matter of "urgent procedure."

The Senate ratification of the treaty, which Chancellor Hitler had cited as Germany's reason for repudiating the Locarno Pact, will materially strengthen Foreign Minister Flandin's position when the League of Nations Council meets in London on Saturday, informed quarters believed.

THREE BOLT ON ELECTION BILL

Stay of By-Elections in Omineca and Burrard Decided by Legislature

Losing three supporters en route, the Government pushed by-election amendments to the Constitution Act through second reading in the Legislature, yesterday, on a division of 28 to 15. Messrs. Gillis, MacKay and Murray voted with an united Opposition against acceptance of the bill, under which it is proposed to defer filling seats in Burrard and Omineca.

Voting for the bill were Messrs. Pattullo, Hart, Sloan, Weir, MacDonald, Gray, Pearson, MacPherson, McKeen, Wilkinson, Johnson, Putnam, Whittaker, Carson, Tupper, McPherson, Leary, Hanna, (Mrs.) Smith, Barrow, Harris, Burns, Wismer, Kenney, McDonald, Asselstine, Strachan and King—28.

Voting against the bill were Messrs. Gillis, MacKay, Murray, Bruhn, Anscomb, Pianta, Savage, Connell, Price, (Mrs.) Steeves, H. Winch, E. Winch, Ivanics, Bakewell and Uphill—15.

The bill will proceed next in committee stage. It gives the Administration the equivalent of eight months after enactment in which to call by-elections in Omineca and Burrard. A ministerial explanation has already said they will be called "about June."

CAMP WORKERS WALK OFF JOB

Approximately 140 men employed at Camp Ten, operated by the Victoria Lumber & Manufacturing Company in the Cowichan Lake area, went on strike Wednesday afternoon following the refusal of the company to reinstate a fellow worker discharged the day previous. As a result of the walkout at Camp Ten about 250 men on the night shift at the company's mill at Chemainus are out of employment. The company officials stated last night the mill would operate at half time until labor difficulties had been ironed out.

No attempt at negotiations between officials and strikers had been made up to last night, it was stated.

Aberhart Called Upon to Fulfill Dividend Pledge

EDMONTON, March 12 (CP).—Ignorance of the Social Credit Measures Act and the oppositionist political factions within St. Paul Social Credit Group No. 1 were cited here tonight by Premier Aberhart of Alberta as the reason for that group's condemnation of the Premier for his "miserable failure" to provide for establishment of Social Credit this year.

The St. Paul Social Credit Group had made its charges in a resolution declaring the Government had been elected only on the pledge it would effect dividends and must, therefore, begin paying them.

Nazi Government Indicted As Violator of Two Pacts; Hitler Refuses to Retreat

Germany Threatens to Withdraw Peace Proposals if Sovereignty Impaired

WOULD PREFER TO LIVE IN ISOLATION

BERLIN, March 12 (AP).—Germany, in another sharp warning to Europe, said today she preferred "honorable isolation than to live as a nation discriminated against." She threatened to withdraw her peace proposals if any attempt is made to impair her sovereignty.

At the same time Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler took his case to the German people by appearing as a campaign speaker in the remilitarized Rhineland, at Karlsruhe.

In an unexpected official declaration, the Reich said if other nations try to force her to renounce her sovereign rights, she will withdraw the proposals for peace Hitler advanced last Saturday as a substitute for the discarded Locarno Treaty.

MAKES AN OFFER

A special attempt at composing the ruffled international situation was seen in an offer not to increase German troops now in the Rhineland.

The statement said the remilitarization is truly "symbolic," and that Germany is ready, "if this be deemed expedient, to declare that for the duration of negotiations and on the assumption that the French and Belgian Governments will act analagously, she will effect no change in this situation."

WILL NOT RENOUNCE

KARLSRUHE, Germany, March 12 (AP).—Adolf Hitler, wildly cheered by an election meeting of 60,000 persons, proclaimed tonight that "nothing will move us to renounce" Nazi sovereignty in the Rhineland, but assured France, Czechoslovakia and Poland that armed German forces will not move against them.

In a campaign speech loaded with appeals for "common sense statesmanship," he criticized sharply what he called Soviet interference

PROTECTION OF SPAIN SOUGHT

British Embassy Requests Safeguard of Nationals During Disorders

MADRID, March 12 (AP).—Threats by extremists in the Province of Huelva against "all foreigners" brought representations by the British Embassy, it was learned tonight, to the Spanish Government, requesting protection for English engineers working on the Zafra Railway in Huelva Province.

Tension increased throughout Spain as the disorders, which have taken a heavy toll in life and property since the February 16 elections, developed into a war of reprisals between Right and Left factions. Nuns and priests continued to flee from convents, and tonight extremists tried to burn a church in the very heart of Madrid.

The Government was understood to have informed the British Embassy that British engineers will be protected.

Picks Up Bottle From South Seas With Note Inside

PORT ANGELES, March 12 (AP) — Harvey Klinger, of Clallam Bay, said today he found a bottle, apparently washed ashore, containing a note dated April 12, 1931, aboard the steamship Tairoa, 1,000 miles west of the Cocos Islands, in the South Seas. Klinger said the note was signed by a George Zachert, who asked the finder to write to him at his home in Cardiff, Wales.

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

Greater Victoria Committee Proposes Joint Meeting of Municipal Delegates

Mayor David Leeming will be asked by the Greater Victoria committee of the City Council to send out letters inviting the reeve and two councillors of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt municipalities to attend a joint conference to discuss, in a friendly manner, matters of importance to the welfare of the city and the adjoining municipalities.

The Greater Victoria committee, comprising Alderman Archie Wills, chairman; Alderman Stanley Okell and Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, met yesterday afternoon to discuss matters pertaining to the Greater Victoria area, and following the meeting, Alderman Wills announced that the committee had decided to ask the Mayor to call a joint conference with a view to having a round table discussion on a friendly and co-operative basis.

LIST OF TOPICS

Although details have yet to be worked out, it is expected that accompanying the letter of invitation will be a suggested agenda listing a number of topics that might be discussed at the joint conference. The invitation will include a request that representatives from the adjoining municipalities also bring along topics for discussion that may affect the welfare of the entire area.

Shortly after his election to office, the suggestion of Alderman Wills that a Greater Victoria committee be appointed was endorsed by the Mayor, who appointed a committee with Alderman Wills, the sponsor, as chairman.

Much ground work was done last year, and the hope is now expressed that the forthcoming joint conference will bring up matters of importance to the welfare of the community, and ultimately result in the formation of a standing committee, which would continue the study of Greater Victoria's needs with a view to even closer co-operation being brought about than exists today.

ITALIAN TROOPS RESUME ADVANCE

Motorized Columns Said to Be Moving in Direction of Jijiga—Bombardment Continues

ROME, March 13 (AP).—Italian dispatches reported early today General Rodolfo Graziani's Fascist troops again were advancing on the Southern Ethiopian front.

Motorized columns were said to be moving along the Webbe Shibeli, through Ogaden Province in the direction of Danane, Dage and Medo, and the drive was expected to continue in the direction of Jijiga, important town fifty miles east of Harrar, Ethiopia's second largest city.

An intense aerial bombardment was reported in the vicinity of Maleico and the Boramo region and as far north as Lakes Ciamo and Margareta.

France Demands Complete Withdrawal of German Troops From Rhine Area and Britain Forced To Support French Stand as Hitler Refuses to Meet Suggestions

Military Preparations Are Being Pushed on Frontier

(Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press)

LONDON, March 12. — France demanded that "the whole Rhineland be absolutely evacuated" of German troops tonight after four former Great War allies, meeting in one of the gravest conferences since that war, indicted the Nazi Government as a violator of the Locarno and Versailles Treaties.

The unyielding French position was proclaimed in the face of a refusal by Chancellor Hitler of a British plea that he withdraw all but a few of the troops.

"France will not negotiate with Germany as long as the status quo ante is not restored," the French spokesman declared. He said now that Great Britain, Italy, Belgium and France had found Germany guilty of treaty violation, it is up to the League Council to discuss punishment and steps to be taken.

HITLER REITERATES STAND

He voiced the demand even as Hitler thundered from a rostrum at Karlsruhe, in the remilitarized area. "I assure you nothing, absolutely nothing, will induce us to renounce this regained sovereignty over the Rhineland zone!"

The French spokesman indicated diplomatic ruptures of all League powers with Germany might be the first punishment meted out if Germany refuses to accept the verdict of Locarno powers and a forthcoming one by the League of Nations Council.

An impasse in the threatening situation was apparent. France demands that all troops be withdrawn—Hitler has refused such a proposal and threatened in turn to withdraw the substitute peace plans he advanced last Saturday in denouncing Locarno unless Germany's sovereignty, including the right to move troops, is respected.

An authoritative British source called this threat "an absolute bombshell" making the "situation now desperately grave."

Because of the new German pronouncement, the British were reported swinging close to the French attitude and away from a conciliatory policy.

CLEAR VIOLATION

The remaining Locarno Treaty members voted that the moving of troops into the demilitarized Rhineland "constituted a clear violation of Articles 42 and 43 of the Versailles Treaty and the Locarno Pact."

Another session was called for tomorrow. The council of the League of Nations will meet here Saturday to take up Franco-Belgium appeals against the violation and many expected France might urge punishment of the Reich by economic sanctions.

The British, French, Belgium and Italian diplomats after a day-long meeting at the Foreign Office in a room next to the one which the Locarno Pact was signed in 1925 issued a communique saying they found Germany guilty of breaching the treaties and adding.

"It will be for the council of the League of Nations, to which France and Belgium have referred the matter, to pronounce on that point."

CONTINUES TO PREPARE

In a day of tense and swift-moving developments France went forward with military preparations for "an eventuality" in the Rhineland.

It was disclosed Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary had appealed, through the German Ambas-

RIOT INQUIRY IS COMPLETED

Report on Regina Disorders May Be Ready in About Two Weeks

REGINA, March 12 (CP). — The Royal Commission inquiring into the Regina Dominion Day riot today ended its hearing of evidence and argument. It was the sixtieth day of sittings.

Last words came from Chief Justice J. T. Brown, chairman of the commission, and they were words of appreciation of co-operation of all parties connected with the inquiry.

Next comes the report, and opinion was divided among counsel and others associated with the commission on the time when it may be ready.

HUNDREDS OF WITNESSES

The report, expected to be a comprehensive document, will take the three commissioners some time to prepare, but may be ready within two weeks. The testimony was taken from 359 witnesses, and heard not only in Regina, but also in Vancouver and Calgary.

"I am sure we are all glad to have reached this stage," said Chief Justice Brown as the inquiry ended. He assured counsel the commissioners would prepare their report with impartiality and fidelity to their oaths of office.

Frank J. G. Cunningham, counsel for the strikers, concluded his argument which he began yesterday.

ONTARIO'S DEFICIT IS $13,500,000

TORONTO, March 12 (CP). — Ontario's deficit for the fiscal year ending March 31 was placed by Premier Hepburn today at $13,496,609.07. At the same time, in his budget address before the Legislature, the Premier forecast a surplus of $597,985.64 at the end of March, 1937.

JUDGE TO BE TRIED ON IMPEACHMENT CHARGES

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP).—The Senate today ordered Halsted L. Ritter, Federal judge for the Southern District of Florida, to appear April 6 for trial on House impeachment charges.

Solemnly convened as a court, the Senate brought the slender jurist before it and gave him and his counsel until March 27 to file a response to charges of "misbehavior and high crimes and misdemeanors."

NINETY KILLED; ONE CONVICTION

Startling Figures Given to Legislature on Highways Accidents in British Columbia

Although there were ninety fatalities in British Columbia last year, as a result of automobile accidents, and twenty-one persons charged with manslaughter, there was only one conviction secured. This information was given to the Legislature yesterday by Attorney-General Sloan, in answer to a question by E. E. Winch.

The Vancouver member asked for particulars as to what were the respective numbers of pedestrians and occupants of motor cars who met death in traffic accidents. The reply was that thirty-eight pedestrians were killed, nineteen occupants of automobiles, sixteen drivers and twelve cyclists were fatally injured and five persons died from other causes connected with the accidents.

No drivers' licences were permanently suspended as a result of the deaths, but nineteen licences were temporarily suspended.

Mayor Scores Apathy To Tourist Industry At Nanaimo Conclave

David Leeming Points Out Crying Need for United Island Voice to Which Provincial and Federal Governments Would Pay Heed

ONE of the greatest obstacles to work of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Vancouver Island is the apathetic attitude of those who have the most to gain, Mayor David Leeming, chairman of the executive council, told members during the quarterly meeting at Nanaimo yesterday.

Mayor Leeming declared there was a crying need for a united Island voice to which both the Provincial and Federal Governments would pay attention.

Those present at the meeting besides Mayor Leeming were Mayor John Barsby, Nanaimo; Mayor W. W. Walkem, Ladysmith; Mayor G. J. Spratt, Alberni; Mayor James Gregg, Duncan; Mayor W. C. Hamilton, Port Alberni; Charles Simms, ex-mayor of Courtenay; T. H. Estlick, general secretary of the Tourist Trade Development Association, and Rev. Glen Stevenson, Alberni.

Eden suggested Germany withdraw all but a "symbolic" number of troops and promise not to fortify the zone until a treaty had been negotiated and the international situation "regularized."

Although Eden told the German Ambassador, Leopold Von Hoesch, it would be difficult to exaggerate how gravely Britain views the situation, Hitler answered that Germany could not enter into any limitation of her sovereignty in the Rhineland, but promised neither to increase the strength of certain garrisons nor to move troops closer to the French and Belgian borders.

Hitler, meeting the British appeal about half-way also appended it with a blunt indication that France and Belgium would have to take similar steps in order not to menace Germany.

SIGNIFICANT MOVE

LONDON, March 12 (Æ.—Significance was attached by informed quarters tonight that the fact that the Foreign Office communicated to the French, Belgian and Italian representatives here Germany's reply to Britain's appeal for some conciliatory move on the part of Chancellor Hitler in the Rhineland.

Informed quarters interpreted the action of the Foreign Office as meaning that Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, in submitting the demands of France to Germany not as a condition but as a suggestion, was acting in concert with the other Locarno powers assembled here to consider the European situation. It was further taken to mean that the four powers were agreed as to the basis upon which negotiations with Germany should be undertaken.

But they apparently were not agreed as yet upon what action should be taken, now that Germany has rejected the suggestions for conciliatory mover.

North Dakota May Attempt to Lure Geese From Home

BISMARCK, N.D., March 12 (AP).—The North Dakota Game and Fish Department is considering a plan to decoy Canadian geese, largely disappeared from their Southern breeding range, into established homes in this state during the breeding season.

"A few pairs of pinioned birds liberated in a sanctuary carefully selected for environments suitable to the needs and habits of the Canadian goose, would without doubt soon decoy migrating birds," State Commissioner Peterson declared.

Compliment Is Paid Oak Bay By Investor

W. H. GARDINER, of Winnipeg, who is heavily interested in the Uplands properties, in a letter to Oak Bay Council yesterday, expressed his readiness to accept the demand for the taxes on the holdings. As an evidence of the good will that continues to exist between the municipality and the original owners of the property, Mr. Gardiner appends the following paragraph to his letter:

"May I say finally that I value too much a quarter of a century of good will to allow me to hold anything but the deepest respect for a municipality whose valued assistance I have always appreciated and whose record of administration is an outstanding one in Canada."

BUDGET DEBATE IS UNDER WAY

Provincial Problems Without Solution Yet, Asserts H. E. Winch, M.P.P.

Complaining of what he said had been borrowings of $12,000,000 in a single year and increase in Provincial debt by $21,575,000 in two years, H. E. Winch (C.C.F., Vancouver East) opened the budget debate in the Legislature yesterday for the official opposition. Rev. Robert Connell, leader of the Opposition, adjourned debate, and will resume at 2:30 p.m. today.

The Province, said Mr. Winch, was hopelessly bankrupt in its Treasury and intellectually bankrupt elsewhere. The prior administration had left a gap of $1,100,000 in sinking funds, since increased by the present ministry to $7,500,000. Debt charges annually had risen from $11,000,000, to more than $12,000,000, and were not being met.

The increase in civil service salaries was justified on the basis of a rise in the cost of living. For the same reason, relief rates should be increased, he said. Increased costs for extra police were criticized, as was continued borrowing of additional sums to enlarge a debt to be paid by posterity.

No determination had been given on the important issue of acceptance or rejection of Federal control of Provincial financing. Election pledges had been consistently broken. The Government now promised to "do something," but could not say what. Neglecting causes of unrest, the world was drifting to war and Fascism, Mr. Winch concluded.

ONTARIO FLOODS CAUSING DAMAGE

5,000 on Lake Ontario, sixty miles east of Toronto, suffered damage of $100,000, but recovered from the flood quickly.

Just north of Port Hope a 100-foot iron bridge collapsed when the Nicholson File Company dam gave way. The file company's plant was under four feet of water.

Seven-year-old Florence Wilson, ill of pneumonia, and Mrs. Bertha Richardson, a diabetes patient, were not expected to live as a result of their experiences during the worst of the flood at Belleville, where the damage reached at least $100,000. They were marooned in their homes and carried to hospital by policemen and firemen, who rescued persons who had taken refuge in the upper stories of their residences.

TRAIN LEAVES RAILS

An engine and seven box cars left the tracks when an Ottawa-Belleville Canadian National Railways freight train hit a washout two miles north of Papanee. Unprecedented flood conditions in the Kingston district saw a steel bridge at Milhaven, twelve miles from Kingston, washed out.

DEATHS REPORTED

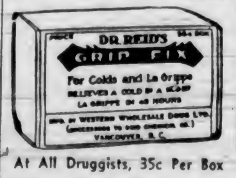

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP).—Hundreds of persons fled for their lives when rain, melting snow and swollen rivers combined to flood vast areas of the Northeast and Middle West today. At least four persons perished as floodwaters swept away bridges, washed out railroads and highways and undermined buildings. Extensive property damage was reported throughout New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

Henry Roy, thirty-one, drowned when he slipped while removing flash boards from a power house dam at Manchester, N.H.

Leroy M. Hauck was shocked fatally when he tried to adjust a battery charger in the flooded cellar of his home at Roselle Park, N.J.

Eugene Hill, sixty, was suffocated and a woman was seriously injured when two houses collapsed at Bartlett, N.H. Four children were rescued by CCC workers.

A huge mass of mud, ice and stones swept down Macomber Hill at North Jay, Me., crushing a toolshed and killing Ezra Ober, fifty, WPA road worker, who had taken refuge in the frail building from torrential rain. Fred Jackson was injured.

PREPARING FOR INVESTIGATIONS

Committee Presents Reports On Plans to Probe Farm Machinery Prices

OTTAWA, March 12 (C.P.) — Two reports of the House agricultural committee were presented to the Commons today preparatory to beginning an investigation on prices of farm implements. One report asked authority to obtain counsel, auditors and technical experts to assist in the conduct of the probe.

Price lists of Canadian manufacturers for farm implements this year showed a considerable increase over the prices a year ago. This came at approximately the same time as duties on implements from the United States were reduced to 12½ per cent by the Canadian-United States Trade Agreement. It was this stepping up of prices the committee earlier today made preparations to investigate.

CAUSES SHARP DEBATE

The committee's second report expressed the opinion the price increases should not be put into effect until such time as the inquiry had been completed. This report was the cause of sharp debate in the meeting of the committee.

The House took no action today on either report. It was learned Finance Minister Dunning wished to examine the report before the House was committed to the expenses which the appointment of counsel and engineering experts to assist the industry and the printing of evidence would entail on the public treasury.

The committee, under the chairmanship of W. G. Weir (Liberal, Macdonald), passed the report calling for counsel and engineering experts without a division. A subcommittee of seven will be named by the chairman to map out the lines the inquiry will follow.

WANTS PRICES FILED

E. E. Perley (Conservative, Qu'Appelle) suggested the manufacturers of farm implements file lists of their prices from 1908 to 1936 and that the rates of duties each year be submitted. The sub-committee would consider the suggestion, Mr. Perley was told, but the officials of the companies making farm implements in this country would be called before the committee and given an opportunity to prove the increased prices were warranted. There would be then an opportunity to question them on the prices over the time period, Mr. Perley proposed.

SWIMMING POOL PROPOSAL MADE

Oak Bay Council Receives Offer From Representative of Estate To Take Over Lease

H. J. Ketchen, representing the estate of the late P. F. Curtis, yesterday offered to the Oak Bay Council for $50 the swimming pool site at the beach at the end of Windsor Road.

It was explained that Mr. Curtis had kept up the lease of this property at an annual fee of $25, and that he had spent some $400 in doing so.

Solicitors for Oak Bay advised the council that it had the right to operate and maintain a swimming pool. The proposal was laid on the table for further consideration. In the meantime, an investigation into the whole matter will be made.

SIR DAVID CAMPBELL SUCCUMBS IN LONDON

LONDON, March 12 (C.—General Sir David Campbell, who recently resigned from the governorship of Malta for reasons of ill-health, died here today.

Sir David, at the Battle of the Marne, was wounded by a lance in a scuffle with Uhlans. He was believed to be the only British officer so wounded during the course of the war.

Municipal Plan For T.B. Ward Is Turned Down

Dr. Frederick Kincaid, Provincial tuberculosis officer, last night advised the Saanich Council that the Province would not set up a T.B. ward in the Health Centre.

Lack of funds for further work along this line was given by Dr. Kincaid as the reason for the refusal by the Province.

Saanich had made overtures to the Provincial authorities, and the announcement of the refusal came somewhat as a surprise to the council.

It was decided to advertise the Health Centre for rent for any purpose. The rental expected was not immediately determined.

LETTERS INDICATE VISITORS TO BRING MORE MONEY HERE

Visitors to Victoria this Summer will apparently have more money to spend than those tourists of recent years. Noticeable in the inquiries already being received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from prospective visitors are the questions concerning good hotels and good accommodation, rather than low-price accommodation as was generally asked for in similar correspondence during 1933 and 1934.

Through a contacting service conducted by the Canadian Travel Bureau at Ottawa, the Victoria bureau is receiving a large number of requests from Easterners for information about the Island. Many others have written from the Atlantic Coast saying they were arranging to spend their Summer holidays here.

ADVISES WALK ON SEASHORE

Acting Engineer of Oak Bay Maintains Waterfront Is Right Location

A. G. S. Musgrave, acting municipal engineer of Oak Bay, has reported to the Oak Bay council that after reading the various letters concerning the placing of the sidewalk proposed along Beach Drive, he has reached the conclusion that his original plan to place it on the east side of the drive is the correct one. This means that he favors the placing of the sidewalk on the side nearest the waterfront.

The matter will now go to the works committee of the council for consideration of his report.

The matter came before the Oak Bay council yesterday, Mr. Musgrave pointed out that the great question involved in the matter was not that of meeting solely the convenience of the immediate residents along the way. It was a matter in which all the residents of Oak Bay and others were concerned as the walk would be more or less of a promenade for large numbers other than residents on the drive.

BERLIN, March 12 (AP).—Indicating the strain of Franco-German relations, Andre Francois-Poncet, the French ambassador, and Pierre Arnal, counsellor of the French Embassy, have called off social functions scheduled for the next few days.

PUBLIC BILLS IN B.C. HOUSE

Dikes, Dogs, Taxes and Cascade Mountains Subject of Legislation

Municipal bills made their way into the Legislature this week, introduced by Hon. A. W. Gray, as Minister of Municipal Affairs, and also as Minister of Lands.

Bill 17 concerns a diking consolidation on Lulu Island, in the Township of Richmond, with civic powers of expropriation, assessment and levying for the administration of the area, including two diking schemes now under Provincial control. The consolidation would come into effect on January 1, 1937.

Bill 12 concerns creation of new drainage works in Delta Municipality, with power to the municipality to limit or extend the drainage area, and levy for its operation. Borrowing powers are made subject to the approval of the Province.

NELSON CENTRE

Bill 13 would authorize the City of Nelson to set up a board of management for the new Nelson civic centre, and to arrange with the board for the operation of the institution without the assent of the electors.

Bill 14 is to validate omission of tax sales in the city of Prince Rupert, and to indemnify the commissioner, W. J. Alder, against any action by reason of abandonment of such sales. Its terms exceed the present authority given other municipalities under the Municipal Act.

Bill 18, known as the Prince Rupert Enabling Act, provides for consolidation of tax arrears in the Northern city, which has been under provincial management for some time. Consolidated taxes would be amortised.

FIXED ASSESSMENT

Bill 15 is a measure for New Westminster. It would validate a twelve-year fixed assessment agreement already entered into between the corporation and the Pacific Coast Terminals Company, Ltd., as to operation by the latter of docks, cold storage and rail terminals acquired from the bondholders of the Pacific Coast Terminals, Ltd.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald introduced amendments to the Sheep Protection Act, extending the provisions of that law in respect to the licensing of dogs in municipalities. It is Bill 16.

The Attorney-General has placed amendments to the Interpretation Act before the House, redefining the boundaries of the Cascade Mountains by proclamation, and enhancing the authority of "acting" public officers while acting in public. This is Bill 19.

Predicts Financial Failure of Health Plan for Province

Dr. W. A. Clarke Tells Royal City Rotarians of Pitfalls That Will Face Commission—Emphasizes Plight of Indigents

NEW WESTMINSTER, March 12.—"The health insurance scheme will fail financially. The commission under which it will operate faces certain bankruptcy and these industrialiasts who have complained of another 1 per cent levy have not yet heard the half of it," declared Dr. W. A. Clarke, before a large luncheon meeting of Rotarians here today.

The doctor urged that when it was discovered that the act was not workable with the funds available, a curtailed service would be the first result and this would be followed by increased levies, from the insured and from the employers.

"The act specifically states" he said, "that each insured person is entitled to ten weeks hospitalization and there are thousands who are going to see that they get it. Vancouver already faces a bed shortage of 500 and with the added burden of health insurance there will be a further shortage of 400, which will involve a capital outlay of $1,800,000 for that one city."

He painted the picture of two sisters, one a school teacher receiving an average salary of $1,400 per year, who was entitled to all the benefits of health insurance, but the other, a trained nurse in private practice, who would be fortunate if she averaged $600 a year, but who was excluded from the benefits of the act. And the lot of the nurse," he continued, "is the lot of the widow, who does a little sewing to eke out a living, of the corner groceryman, of the small independent garage operator, the casual worker, the prospector and the farm laborer, where not more than three are employed on a farm."

Dr. Clarke while emphasizing the plight in some 100,000 indigents in the Province, took occasion to remind those already employed that in case of loss of employment by sickness or injury the dependants of the insured immdiately are excluded from benefits while the insured himself is barred from benefits after a period of ten weeks.

"A LEAP IN THE DARK"

Dr. Weir, it was urged by the speaker, had taken a leap in the dark and had made promises that were impossible of fulfillment in the light of the experience of communities that already had health schemes.

Denning, Georgia, he said, had one of the best schemes on the whole continent, but this service cost $30 per capita.

Even the limited service afforded employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, he said, cost $16.46 per capita yet the bill soon to be brought before the Legislature promised very much more for $12.50 and with a widely scattered population which meant a very largely increased sum for administration. Officials of the Consolidated Company he said had definitely stated that if they gave the same benefits as are now promised it would cost them $20.12 per capita.

"No one would seriously suggest that the Government," said Dr. Clarke, "operating a plan for a scattered population will be able to render more cheaply a service than can a private company operating in compact communities and with reduced administration costs."

SITUATION IN ONTARIO

An interesting sidelight was furnished by Ontario in dealing with its indigents. In that province medical service was rendered at a specially low rate and the services were limited to house and office calls, and confinements only in the home.

"This is but a skeleton service as compared with what British Columbia is promised," said Dr. Clarke, but it cost the Ontario Government $6.24 per patient as against a sum of somewhere between $3.60 and $5.50 under the scheme now proposed."

The average person in British Columbia today is spending $20 annually medical service, but is getting no where near what Dr. Weir scheme proposes, he added.

"Let labor do some considering before it takes a 'stand,'" said Dr. Clarke, "and specially consider the 100,000 who most needed this service but are excluded, of the worker whose dependants are ineligible when he loses employment and the worker himself who loses benefits after twelve weeks of unemployment however much he may have previously paid in."

Will Discuss Ice Arena at Dinner Meeting Tonight

REPRESENTATIVES from city service clubs and delegates from various sports and fraternal organizations will gather tonight at 6:30 o'clock in Spencer's dining-room to discuss plans for a proposed ice arena here. Arranged by the Kinsmen Club, the meeting will hear addresses by Rev. E. F. Church, W. T. Straith and Archie McKinnon. Those organizations which have not received letters of invitation are also invited to attend tonight's meeting, it was said.

Will Conduct Beaver Club Choir

CYRIL C. WARREN

WHO will conduct the Hudson's Bay Company's Beaver Club Choir at a concert to be given in the Shrine Auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock, has had a wide experience in the musical field. For two years he was organist at Chown Church, Vancouver, and for six years was organist and choir leader of the First United Church in Vancouver. After filling the post of organist of St. Andrew's Church in New Westminster for two and a half years, he came to Victoria, and shortly after his arrival was appointed organist and choir leader at the Fairfield United Church. He has been conductor of the Beaver Club Choir for two years, and this year was appointed conductor of the Masonic Choir.

CITY GASOLINE DRIVE ARGUED

Private Bills Committee Hears Contrary Views on Vancouver Application

Vancouver City's move to secure charter rights to trade in gasoline ran its first course before the private bills committee of the Legislature yesterday, without decision. The committee elected to return to the subject again at its next meeting, on Tuesday. The application was opposed on behalf of three leading oil companies, by the Vancouver Ratepayers' Association, and by individuals.

G. S. Clark, for the Standard Oil Company, stated that firm had been welcomed into British Columbia with open arms; had been met at the dock by the Mayor and council and lauded over the radio. It had built a new refinery at cost in excess of $1,000,000; had become responsible for a considerable daily payroll; and was already contributing $8,000 in taxes to the Mainland city.

LARGE INVESTMENTS

Colonel W. Buell, for the Imperial Oil, said that firm spent $1,000,000 in wages within the Province in 1935; contributed $40,000 in taxes; and had invested in excess of $9,000,000. Profits on the handling of gasoline amounted to one half of one per cent per gallon at the present time, he said.

J. L. Bartram, for the Shell Oil, sketched the position of that company, and concurred in prior argument that the Province should at least wait for the report of its royal commission on coal and gas before handing over to municipalities the right to trade in gasoline.

The city delegation, including Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P., and Aldermen Miller, Smith and McRae, with City Solicitor Lord, argued that as the corporation has already the right to deal in fish, coal and other commodities, gasoline should be added.

PROPOSED AS LEVER

Mr. Lord said Vancouver was told that gasoline could be laid down at six cents a gallon at Vancouver. It developed that this was before payment of dumping duties and several other charges. Mr. Lord suggested that the city, if given the right to trade, would have a lever to secure cheaper gasoline. Mayor McGeer said he doubted the right to trade would ever need to be exercised.

After desultory argument, the committee stood over consideration of this clause in Vancouver amendments to its private charter.

SHOE WORKERS STRIKE

LONDON, Ont., March 12 (CP).—Two hundred shoe workers including both men and women employed by the Murray Shoe Company, Limited, went on strike here this morning demanding restoration of a 15 per cent pay cut. The plant is completely tied up.

CLAIMS OTTAWA IGNORES COAST

Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P., Deals With Importance of Tourist Industry

Victoria and Vancouver might as well be north of Siberia when it comes to consideration from the Federal Government, His Worship Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P., told members of the Rotary Club yesterday. The Mayor of Vancouver was introduced by Herbert J. Pendray, president of the club.

Mayor McGeer declared the chief concern at Ottawa was how the Federal Government was going to pay its bills to the United States and release Canada from foolish borrowings of the past. He thought the best means of liquidating the liabilities would be to attract vast numbers of tourists from across the border and make special efforts to have them remain as permanent residents.

He felt there were many ex-British residents and descendents of Britons in the United States who could be persuaded to bring their wealth to Canada.

Mr. McGeer believed British Columbia, by maintaining traditions of the British Empire and making the various communities spots of restful beauty, could increase its tourist trade enormously.

He thought Vancouver's forthcoming Golden Jubilee celebration would do much to call attention to the city as a port essential to the maintenance of world trade.

Drama Devotees To Have Tag Day

VANCOUVER, March 12 (CP).—Permission to hold a tag day to finance the costs of sending the cast of sixteen of the play, "Waiting for Lefty," to the finals of the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa, beginning April 20, was granted yesterday by the civic finance committee.

Garfield King, representing the Progressive Arts Club, whose play won the British Columbia regional festival, stated about 90 per cent of the members were unemployed and some on relief.

Blast Sends Two Men to Hospital

CALGARY, March 12 (CP).—Stephen Biggs, eighteen, son of Charles Biggs, secretary of Mercury Oils, Limited, and Frank Watt, thirty-five, an oil plant worker, were in hospital here today suffering from burns following an explosion at the gas and oil products absorption plant in Turner Valley.

The explosion followed a small fire in a pump house at the plant. Little damage was caused by the fire.

MINING PANEL SEEKS ACTION

Legislative Committee Proposes New and More Vigorous Aid by Province

Increases of $504,500 in the Provincial Secretary's Department, and $300,500 in the Department of Education, against a scant increase of $34,000 in the Department of Mines, a leading revenue producer, nettled the mining committee of the Legislature yesterday. The committee expressed a desire to consult with the Minister of Mines, on a six-point programme on which it will seek action.

The proposals include revision of the British Columbia Securities Act to remove present anomalies; a definite policy of active assistance in contruction of mining trails; Provincial action to encourage prospecting in new mineral areas, some with known potential values in lode gold deposits; Federal action to reduce import costs on mining machinery not otherwise obtainable in the west; practical aid for prospectors, in transportation to remote areas; and a search for solution of the problem faced by small, Interior mines in the lack of adequate smelting facilities.

B.C. OPPORTUNITY

The committee emphasized the fact that mining is not only one of the major producers of actual wealth in British Columbia, but the industry which shows the best chance of continuous progress on an accelerated plan. A stand-still vote of $40,000 for mining trails, which has remained unchanged for several years, set the committee off on an examination into the possibility of bringing about drastic changes in the whole approach of the Province to the industry.

Hon. G. S. Pearson, Hon. G. M. Sloan, K.C., and other witnesses will be asked to appear before the committee, at future sittings. Dougald McPherson presided.

MAY POSTPONE DATE OF TRIAL

Charge of Manslaughter Against George Evans May Be Delayed

With only two cases set down for trial at the next assizes, which will open in the Courthouse here on Monday, the possibility has arisen that one of these trials may have to be set over for future hearing. This is the case of manslaughter, with which George Evans, of Duncan, is charged, arising out of the death of Roland Robert Ryley.

One of the defence witnesses is ill and may not be able to attend and give evidence. If his condition is such that attendance will not be possible when the date for the trial is reached next week, delay may have to be taken.

The only other case set down for hearing at the assizes is the murder charge against John H. Booth, of Sidney, who is accused of having murdered his wife by shooting.

At the opening of the assizes on Monday, with Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson presiding, the murder charge will be proceeded with before the trial judge, and a jury will be empaneled from those who have been notified by Sheriff H. W. Goggin to be present for the opening of the sitting. All jurors summoned to attend this assize must be in attendance at the opening of the court Monday morning.

Echoes From The Gallery

The Legislature ran into its third division of the session yesterday. The Government was sustained 28-15 on the bill to postpone by-elections in Omineca and Burrard. Three Liberals, including the chairman of the caucus, voted in the opposition column. Second reading followed.

Budget debate opened, with H. E. Winch in the role of financial critic of the administration. The C.C.F. member for Vancouver East quoted Mr. Pattullo, as Leader of the Opposition in 1933, against Premier Pattullo, as Leader of the Government in 1936, adding ciphers where necessary to bring the debt up to date.

Rev. Robert Connell, Leader of the Official Opposition, will resume debate today, when the House reconvenes at 2:30 p.m.

Night sittings may start next week. Premier Pattullo passed the customary anticipatory motions through the House yesterday. If former practice is followed, the estimates will be considered at the evening sittings when they commence. The budget debate must conclude first.

Committees for today include agriculture and municipal groups, the latter with a heavy programme of Union of British Columbia Municipalities resolutions before it.

Headed by Newton Burdick, Vancouver, Christian Scientists asked the Government yesterday that they be excluded from the state health insurance scheme, on conscientious grounds. The delegation saw members of the Government and members of the Legislature, and expect to gain their point.

Expert advice on actuarial and other phases of the state health draft cost $3,377 between August last and the present time, Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir has replied to questions in the House. S. H. Pipe, Toronto actuary, received $1,283; H. H. Wolfenden, consultant actuary, $1,000; Professor G. F. Drummond, of the University of British Columbia, $845, and Professor N. B. McLean, of McGill, $250. Expenses of the "hearings" committee were $2,710 at November last.

The House rose at 4:09 p.m., until 2:30 p.m. today.—S.G.

ICE WILL DELAY LAKES SHIPPING

Straits of Mackinac Blockaded—Navigation May Not Open Until Middle of May

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP).—Deep ice barriers locked the Great Lakes today in a grip that threatened to hold back lake shipping at least two weeks beyond the normal opening season.

Vast frigid sheets as much as thirty-four inches thick blocked water traffic lanes from New York to Minnesota, the weather bureau said in its first Spring report on lake conditions.

Harbors were still frozen shut, and the Straits of Mackinac—connecting link of the lake system—were barred by a blockade coast guardsmen predicted would not be broken by Nature alone until at least mid-May.

Cell Lock in Calgary Jail Is Obstinate

CALGARY, March 12 (CP).—While Calgary police officers tried to open a jammed cell lock at the city police station yesterday and other prisoners shouted, James Byrne, suffering from a superficial neck wound, made faces at the struggling officers.

Byrne, committed earlier in the day to the Alberta hospital at Ponoka, was taken to hospital after police opened the cell door. He was reported in "favorable" condition.

Police were investigating how Byrne had been in possession of a penknife found in the cell. It was believed he hid the knife in a shoe when other articles were taken from him.

Piles Go Quick

With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested a flabby, the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-R-ID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

Practically every economist who constitutes himself a prophet of what should be done to cure the ills from which humanity suffers ignores the labor upheaval which has taken place in the last thirty years through the incursion of women to industrial and all other pursuits. That, more than any other factor that could be named, is the cause of the unemployment that has been prevalent. There was a time when it was considered that in the main home life should be constituted on the principle that there should be one bread-winner for each family, when the female members of that family were not expected to work. It is true that the incursion of women into the labor market has had a tendency to raise the standard of living. That is its bright object lesson; its dark side is that it has meant that employment is not available for everyone. There could not have been such a revolution in the labor market without inevitable repercussions.

What a change there has been from some thirty years ago. There is the instance of Russia alone. In that country 7,000,000 women are working, or 33.4 per cent of the entire number of people engaged in the national economic structure. They occupy from one-quarter to one-third of all the key positions in industry, agriculture, politics and intellectual pursuits. In coal mining, 24 per cent of the total workers are women; in woodworking, 40 per cent are women; in metallurgical and machine-building industries, 26 per cent. On the municipal councils, 30 per cent of the members are women. Despite the fact of their wage-earning abilities, the Soviet Government in 1935 distributed $40,000,000 among women during child-bearing and over $16,600,000 for the support of children and special nourishment funds. The part the feminine sex plays in the labor market is similar in other countries to Russia. The economic problem, such as it is today, has been brought about by the growing activities of women, by their right to do all that they are able to do that a man has been doing in the past. They have displaced men workers all over the earth. The issue is to find jobs for all, whereas in the past it was only necessary to find them for the male portion of the population.

ELEVENTH HOUR LEGISLATION

The British Columbia Legislature has been in session for two and a half weeks and the measure of its accomplishment, in a practical sense, is, so far, nil. Its whole time has been spent in academic debate, and a new installment of that debate commenced yesterday, with the budget as its ostensible theme, but in reality giving the opportunity for varying views on party polemics. The estimates contained in the budget will be approved pretty much as they stand; that is a foregone conclusion. Successful Legislatures are quite willing that British Columbia should go on spending more and more each year despite the financial condition of the Province. The people, during the coming fiscal year, are to face new taxation aggregating $2,600,000 for compulsory health insurance purposes, and there is a promise that additional taxation levies will be inaugurated at an Autumn session. For the fiscal year 1934-35 the budgeted expenditure for the Province was $21,609,637. For the fiscal year 1936-37 the budgeted expenditure is $24,192,594. The latter figures do not include the expenditure to be made through health insurance, save a grant of $50,000 to be made towards the purpose by the Government and the sum of $20,000 as its contribution as an employer.

If, as is the intention, the present session of the Legislature is to last four weeks, there are some eight working days left. It is conceivable, however, that it will drag on in debate until the end of the month. Even if it does there will be too little time left for the discussion of compulsory health insurance, the only legislation of any major interest during the session, and the bill dealing with which has not yet been brought down in the House. The people have been told over and over again that the legislation in this respect was prepared, that because of the long and repeated investigations into the subject everything was cut and dried. The expectation, indeed, was that the Bill would have been among the first of the present session and that ample opportunity would have been given all shades of public opinion to be heard in respect to its principle and clauses. The Government, however, has kept back the legislation, and it is hard to escape the conclusion that the intention is to railroad it through in the dying hours of the session in the hope that it may escape much of the just criticism which is its due.

A bill involving increased taxation to the tune of $2,600,000 annually, with the certainty that within a few years that taxation will be doubled, is not the character of legislation that ought to be brought down at the eleventh hour. That fact will add to its unpopularity, for there will be seen in the effort to make it law without full consideration some sinister motives. Those who are fostering the legislation have shown themselves to be obsessed with the principle of compulsion and quite unconcerned about the implications of what is proposed. Although scores of thousands of dollars have been spent in investigation and in propaganda, the scheme has presented itself from its first to its last stages as half-baked, as failing utterly to take into consideration the geographical and employment conditions in British Columbia and as being designed to fasten on the backs of the taxpayers a new and alarming instalment of Socialism. The spleen which has marked the propaganda in favor of compulsory health insurance, the vindictiveness shown towards those who oppose the plan, the threat to "smoke them out" and make it apparent who they are, all bespeak the motives underlying the plan. It is this type of propaganda which shows that no element of [illegible] into the fashioning of the measure which has undergone such a process of chopping and changing that the Liberal members themselves are wholly bemused about the implications of the bill, the details of which have been submitted to the Liberal caucus, but are unknown to the public at large.

Legislation of this character involving the most serious aspect of domestic life, diminishing family payrolls, and so closely bound up with household finances and individual freedom should never be railroaded through a Legislature. Health insurance should in every instance be a matter of individual choice. There is a question of personal liberty at stake, and if, as is claimed by the Government, the people are willing to renounce their individual choice in the matter, then they should be given the opportunity of saying so in a plebiscite. The proponents of the bill, however, are afraid of a plebiscite. It would destroy the opportunity of giving their political friends jobs through the medium of a new bureaucracy. It would be the deathblow to their pet obsession. They are more concerned in telling the people what they consider is best for them than in allowing the people to choose for themselves in a matter which affects their very lives. That is an example of autocratic methods, and these when attempted in a democracy always recoil on their perpetrators. That will be the experience with health insurance as the people find themselves subjected to discriminative taxation which will be on a progressively increasing scale, and which, as it bears on industry and individuals, will act as a definite stoppage to recovery from depression.

ISO-OCTANE

A new form of "doped" petrol that is being manufactured in Great Britain raises the engine output by 30 per cent. It is iso-octane, a derivative of petroleum, and its function is to prevent detonation and so to allow more power to be obtained from a cylinder of a given capacity, either through higher supercharging or through higher compression ratios. The discovery will be of special value for aircraft, for the fuel will make longer flights possible through economical consumption, and therefore an addition to the payload, or alternatively an increase in range. Experiments have already been made in adding iso-octane to the leaded fuel with great benefit to its anti-knock quality. An airplane using the new form of petrol with an engine yielding 920 horse power would raise it to 1,200 h.p. without any rise in weight or increase in size. Where engines are specially designed to use iso-octane better results can be secured.

Attorney-General Roebuck, of Ontario, has made a six-hour speech in the Legislature. It was of so little importance that it almost passed unnoticed in the press of the Dominion, outside Ontario. A new-found fashion of politicians is to use a dozen words where a couple would suffice. They are the worst exponents of the misuse of the English language that we have in our midst. They have a growing sense of their own importance as speakers, just as the people generally have a weakening regard for them as administrators.

When Mr. Lincoln Ellsworth and Mr. Herbert Hollick-Kenyon were rescued in the Antarctic on January 18 the latter was found "very fit." He was as typically casual as his countrymen usually are in welcoming his rescuers. "I say, it's awfully decent of you fellows to drop in on us like this," was his remark. It requires no stretch of the imagination to determine where Mr. Hollick-Kenyon was born.

The world will be a better world when the politicians keep their hands off the people's home life. Every political incursion of that life makes for increased unhappiness and the loss of personal freedom. The great struggle of the future will be for the resumption of that liberty which is being filched away by legislation.

True beauty is in the mind; and the expression of the features depends more upon the moral nature than most persons are accustomed to think.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Every tub must stand upon its own bottom.—Bunyan.

Put your trust in God; but mind to keep your powder dry.—Cromwell.

"Cash today; credit tomorrow." We saw that business motto somewhere, no matter where. As a suspicious neighbor said, there is a catch in that epigrammatical placard somewhere: Today we have with us, but we can never catch up with tomorrow. It is always one day ahead of us. Not that credit is utterly to be condemned and cash for ever magnified. The business of the world is largely conducted upon the credit system. On the day when the diplomatic business of the world cannot be conducted on credit the world will be in a state of bankruptcy. That is why it is important that national and international credit should be maintained.

* * *

Surveying the affairs of the world today, we fear the credit of some of the nations has been sadly impaired. Trust and credit are practically synonymous terms. The word of the statesmen of many nations certainly is not as good as their bond. Treaties between nations are made to be broken rather than to be observed, or only to be observed as long as they cannot be broken to advantage. The excuse for tearing up some treaties as mere scraps of paper is that they were made under duress. But there may be two sides to that question, too. The important side to the question is that treaties which were made under duress were the logical results of violation of treaties which were made voluntarily. If there is ever to be peace in the world, it must be based upon the principle of trust and confidence.

* * *

French public opinion, which is notoriously volatile, has often found expression in the phrase "Perfidious Albion!" No nation may be absolutely trustworthy when its vital interests are involved, and yet it is remarkable to note how often in times of international strain and stress the nations turn to Britain as the world's peacemaker. There is a crisis in the affairs of the world today, and the difficulty has been referred to the League of Nations, not sitting in Geneva, but sitting in London. National credit is a great asset.

* * *

The nations all distrust one another, but to the extent they are capable of trusting any nation they trust Britain. Hitler declares he is not a man of war but a man of peace, and in order to avoid war he is willing to entrust the case of Germany to the statesmen of Great Britain. Mussolini says the same thing, although his course in Africa does not seem in complete harmony with his professions. Of course, there will be conditions attached to the references of the two dictators. Mussolini bluntly declares that the territory he has "conquered" in Ethiopia cannot be surrendered. Hitler has repeatedly said that all the territory taken from Germany after the war must ultimately be restored to her. Those declarations must make the task of Britain as an arbitrator extremely delicate and obviously difficult. German guns are already within shooting distance of some territory which was German before the war. German planes are undoubtedly flying over French territory and surveying French fortifications. A little spark might kindle a great conflagration. British credit is at the back of Belgian and French territorial integrity.

* * *

One of the virtues or idiosyncrasies of British chraracter is a belief that the credit of every man is good; that every man and every nation is to be trusted, at least up to a certain point. That debatable point was reached when an agreement for international disarmament was adopted. Great Britain carried out the terms of that agreement to the letter. None of the other nations carried it out even in spirit. Britain refrained from building warships and scrapped many of her warships in commission. All the other nations added to their armaments both on land and sea. Great Britain disarmed for peace. All neighbor and rival nations armed for war. The result was that in the course of a few years Great Britain discovered that she had fallen into a position of extreme vulnerability. Great Britain made a grand gesture to the nations, and the nations, figuratively speaking, applied their fingers to their noses.

* * *

There is not yet a heaven upon earth. Any nation which has attained a position of eminence must still be prepared to defend and maintain that position, for the animal predatory instinct still survives in man. The statesmen of Britain, at last realling the position of vulnerability to which they had graciously reduced their country, are mending their defences and strengthening their navy, and the cost to the taxpayers will be greater than if they had consistently maintained their established position of invulnerability. Credit is good, but credulity is dangerous. Such is the situation in the world today as we see it, and we still have some faith in our powers of observation and construction.

We Live and Learn

We know a young married woman who urged her husband for several years to teach her how to drive the family automobile. She finally achieved her burning desire, and after a few lessons, confidently backed the motor out of the driveway, paying scrupulous attention to where the rear end was going. In so doing she forgot to keep an eye on the front end. The bumper hooked a telephone pole, she trod upon the accelerator and the appearance of the smart machine was considerably changed . . . Our first experience with automobiles in 1923 was somewhat similar. We tore down a boulevard tree and had to pay for a new front wheel and fender on a borrowed machine . . . Arthur Bannister Guilty of Murder In New Brunswick

DORCHESTER, N.B., March 12 (C.P.)—Arthur Bannister, twenty-year-old lumberjack, was convicted yesterday of the murder of Philip Lake, a Pacific Junction settler, who died last January in a tragedy that arose from an alleged murder-kidnap plot.

Sentence was postponed by Mr. Justice J. H. Barry until after the trial of Arthur's brother, Daniel, nineteen, and their mother, Mrs. May Bannister, charged with kidnapping and designing the plot which the Crown claims formed solely to provide her with a baby so she might extort money from two Moncton men.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily British Colonist of March 13, 1886

Marine Notes—The steamer Ella White, towing the bark Nanaimo, lumber laden for China, arrived yesterday morning from Moodyville and will tow the bark to sea today. The steamship Mexico will be due this morning from San Francisco. The steamship Bardonyx will leave at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Mexico, via San Francisco. She will have a full complement of steerage passengers, but has accommodation for a few more passengers.

Russia's Great Railway—A letter from Merv, received at St. Petersburg, states that the Trans-Caspian Railway is being laid down with unexampled rapidity. The locomotive already runs twenty-five versts beyond Askhabad, and the first train is expected at Merv in the early part of April. Great activity in building and accomplishing general improvements is perceptible at Merv, six new streets, after the European fashion, being already completed. At the fortress of Kushk Khan Kali, another Russian town is being formed, beginning with some large buildings to be used as railway offices.

Tenders for Grading—Tenders for grading Douglas Street from Queens Avenue to the boundary will be received until next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the clerk's office.

MONETARY THEORIES

Sir,—I am in complete argument with the statement in Mr. Bullivant's letter in which he declares that when paper representing equities in foreign countries arrived in Canada for "investment," the banks of Canada can, and do, then create new money in the form of credit, which is then used for the purpose of financing the construction, in Canada by Canadians, in capital assets and thereby a generally quickened economic condition. As Mr. Bullivant wrote: "As to invested capital, we find that if credit furnished directly or indirectly by American or British firms . . . for development in Canada, that credit brings out from the banks more Canadian currency for increased circulation . . ." Aside from the slightly inaccurate use of the word "currency," in place of "credit," that is entirely true.

Now that Mr. Bullivant and I are in agreement, this has nothing to do with the discussion, which is on the point of whether "capital" moves into and out of countries. We know that money cannot cross frontiers; we also know that Canada, for instance, has never received one iota of capital from anywhere in the world in the whole of her existence except in the form of physical goods.

The capital that Canada has received from abroad in years past, in the form of machinery for the better development of her resources, has contributed to the welfare of the nation and the good of the people; surely this needs no restatement or emphasis. The same applies to consumers' goods.

Now what is the point of all this? Only this: Interested persons frighten the uninstructed by telling them that under a Social Credit economy "Canada's money would be no good outside Canada," and that "no more foreign money would come to Canada for investment," when the plain facts are that no foreign money ever came to Canada and no Canadian money ever left Canada. Under Social Credit, as today, the value of Canadian money in foreign lands, and the value of foreign money in terms of Canadian money, will depend on the stability of purchasing power of our own money within our country.

I recommend readers who wish to make a further study of the matter to consult the works of Dr. Gustav Cassel, probably the world's greatest authority on the subject.

J. CHALMERS.

DISTRIBUTING GOODS

Sir,—From the dialectical obscurities of Miss Dorothy Stuart's letter to The Colonist emerges the fact that she objects to Social Credit because the Social Credit proposals assume "that a consumer distribution can be effected while the goods themselves continue to be produced subject to property claims over them."

I hope Miss Stuart will agree that this is not a very important objection. That goods are produced with a property claim against them is no obstacle to their distribution, either in the past, present or future.

Goods have always been produced and distributed with a property claim against them in the past. The entire production of our vast industrial system, admittedly much smaller than it would be if present financial obstacles were removed, is now produced with property claims against it, but is most assuredly distributed.

An example is afforded by present-day Russia. All goods at present produced in Russia are produced with property claims against them, these claims enforced by prices which are the total of their costs and which are liquidated by purchasing power distributed in the processes of production.

There is no difference in function, of course, between the property claims accruing to a government in the production of goods and those accruing to individuals.

Therefore it seems to me unwise to declare that goods, with property claims against them, cannot be distributed, when, very plainly, they always have and are at present distributed, however faultily, with property claims against them.

From the Socialist dialectical point of view Miss Stuart has missed the point of the National Dividend proposed by Social Credit. A little more investigation on her part will convince her, I am sure, that the National Dividend is a distribution to the consumer of all capital costs of consumers' goods, without the necessity of exchanging personal liberty, democratic institutions, private property and personal initiative for the doubtful glories of the servile corporate state, either Marxian or that other face of Socialism.

St. Mark's Vicarage, Victoria, B.C., March 6, 1936.

COMPLSORY HEALTH INSURANCE

Sir,—After a careful study of Dr. Erwin Liek's book, entitled, "The Doctor's Mission," which deals with the subject of social insurance, we are convinced that the best way to break the morale of a great people is to embark into the troubled waters of compulsory health insurance. The Germany of 1914, the Germany of today, is a fair illustration of what happens when the people rely on the Government to protect them from their own follies.

We have read the Dean's letter. We fear it is not sound in either its premises or conclusions. The Dean is, no doubt, eager to make provision for the indigents; but the present proposal does not care for the poor and needy; it is a system of social insurance for those who are able to provide for themselves; it is an attempt to create another bureaucratic body like the Workmen's Compensation Board, which has deprived the worker of his inalienable right to seek justice from the Courts, or Court and jury. Questions of fact can only be determined by doctors. Laymen have no right, under this pernicious legislation, to say, and they are not heard on such questions. Under our common law, the worker was not prevented from presenting any kind of evidence to substantiate his claim to damages. We have set up an arbitrary body, a bureaucratic control, which deals with his claims, and there is rank injustic and much sorrow in the land as a result.

Now it is proposed to go further, to set up another governing body, under the guise of humanitarianism, to force a system of state medicine on the people. We feel that governments are taking too much on themselves. The function of government is to guide and direct, being always careful to leave open the channels of opportunity; to conserve the natural resources; to protect the individual from criminal violence and exploitation but not to circumscribe his life and habits. State medicine will, in time, destroy our civilization. Strindberg writes: "By handicapping the strong we neither create happiness nor do we improve humanity." Health is largely a matter of right thinking and proper living. Extend your consultation rooms and you will create more hospitals and hospitals are often a disgusting sight, for are they not full of mental and moral wrecks?

We are tempted to ask the Dean, and all those who claim Christian authority for their support of this most pernicious legislation, to read their Bible again, and answer for themselves, and for those who need to be led into the green pastures, whether there is anything which savors of compulsory health insurance in the teaching of Christ. Has the church lost the "ancient touch," the power of lifting the masses from the belief in medicine? Nature is the foster-mother of us all. Let Governments attend to the business of governing, and there will be no lack in taking proper care of the needy and the sick.

What are some of the questions which ought to be of concern to this Government, which would lift the burden from those who feel it most? Cut out apprentices in the mills, which system is depriving men of their labor and proper wages. Unite the small and scattered municipalities; make some attempt to eliminate the useless, numerous governing bodies; put men to work at honest wages to repair the roads and open the door to the tourist. Reassess our farming areas, and bring the settlers to the lands where they can make a living. Take back the alienated lands from the big companies, and timber lands, and create a new policy of development for the people. Then open wide the doors of immigration, East and West, and invite the people from the war-threatened countries of Europe to come to Canada, and extend the same glad hand of welcome to all honest settlers, irrespective of race or creed, as was done in the old days. Give to the people the right to inherit the land; and we have no fear that in the time of sickness the doctors will do their duty to those who need help, as they did in the old pioneer days. Canada is a young country, and should not frame its laws on the same basis as in the older countries. Bring the horse back to the land and restore its fertility. A government-ridden, gasoline-operated country is a land full of desolation.

We live in a time of exaggerated State Socialism. The state is not an insurance society. The cry of the Romans, "Panem et Circenses," means "State suport for everybody, and cheap picture theatres." Compulsory health insurance is an admission not of health, but of decay. The citizens must rise, and by repossessing themselves, control the state.

HARRY LANGLEY

"Eversley," Mount Tolmie, Victoria, B.C., March 7, 1936.

COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE

Sir,—A letter in The Times of Thursday giving the views of a worker to the self-appointed anti-health insurance champions was really good, so good indeed that should Dr. Weir read it he will have it framed and hung up, as that is just what the Doctor wants—the views of the martyr.

The Doctor knows full well that such as he, the writer of the letter who will fall for health insurance, as he has fallen for other things and then had them rubbed in. It strikes me that the anti-health insurance champion justifies his being, inasmuch as he is putting up a fight against class law.

The worker tells us the family budget can make no provision for luxuries like medical attention. Let me try to point out to workers why that is so in many cases.

Generally speaking, we have all become ultra modern, and more or less envious of the other fellow's possessions, and we reach out for the same in spite of our lack of means. There was a time when the health, the home and necessities came first, but in this age of hedonism, the car, the movies and many frills and gee-gaws are considered first at the expense of our health. The aforementioned health, home, etc., are now but secondary thoughts. No wonder the Government is acting highwayman. It realizes you have no definite goal, but rather go wandering idly on, and it is going to relieve you of 2 per cent of the money you don't know the value of. Having been bumped and left lying high and dry on the rocks of adversity myself for some time, with no sign of a flood tide (work and wages) to float me off, there is no use of patching me up with health insurance if the flood tide isn't coming. Yet if I am high and dry (out of work) how can I pay for the patching. I must just wait until some good Samaritan happens along, or Father Time makes use of his scythe. That is one odd feature of the proposed bill. Only those working (afloat) and loaded to the gunwales pay 2 per cent, up to $1,800. All above that riding high in the water, looking down on the heavy laden, are exempt.

I thoroughly appreciate the position of some of the workers, being myself, when afloat, a worker. It is hard, however, to separate the sheep from the goats, so the health bill will make all at work under the $1,800 mark, the goats.

A worker asks if this isn't a Government of the people, for the people. Workers aught to forget that. Surely he has lived long enough to know they are all for the people until elected, but the quotation is not applicable to a Government, elected for a definite period of four years, good, bad, or indifferent. Why does it propose a Fall session (pressing business). It feels shaky, and so two safety first cheques in one year. The members won't have to pay a tax of their own creation, but will ride majestically over the waves of depression, like a swan, or pleasure yacht.

If health insurance proves of no greater value than the rural nursing service (out our way), it will be a washout. That is a Government service partly paid for by the people, sadly wanting in quality.

In closing I would suggest to the worker that he welcome all opposition to the bill as it now stands, by any of the anti-health insurance champions, as they might be the means of having it changed, thereby affording the worker a greater benefit at less cost.

Here's hoping the 2 per cent gets good returns, but don't forget you must be sick before your 2 per cent compulsory investment yields a profit. Success to the health bill, only when it includes all, tin gods, brass hats and all other ranks, not forgetting the padre.

Don't be a goat, worker, even should you be a good Liberal.

L. J. CLARK.

A CIVIC SHORTAGE

Sir,—As a ratepayer for the last thirty years I would like to protest against the action of the City Council last night in the matter of the money shortage of one of the branches in the City Hall. I think the person who has taken this money ought to be punished and brought before the court, where a full investigation would be gone into. I think we ratepayers ought to be protected from any dishonest employee of the city. If not, we shall not know when it is going to stop. Why are Mayor Leeming and sundry aldermen protecting this employee? I think that Messrs. Aldermen Dewar, Okell, Wills and McGavin are to be commended for the way they are looking after the ratepayers' interests. Surely a city of this size can afford an outside auditor to go over the city's books and see if there are any more shortages.

Library Extension May Be Possible if Cost Not Too Great

Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter Will Endeavor to Secure Rough Estimate of Carrying Out Work—Improvement Could be Financed by Loan

THE feasibility of enlarging the present Victoria Public Library Building by squaring off the semi-circular portion of the structure, which faces the Cecil Hotel, will be investigated more closely by Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, one of the board directors, with a view to recommending that the work be carried out under the $100,000 public works programme made possible by the loan from the Provincial Government to the city.

It was learned yesterday that the library board has for the past several years considered some such extension from time to time, but has deferred the project because of the need for economy in connection with current expenditures.

NEED IS GREAT

However, the situation at the library has reached a stage where it is felt that something has to be done. It may be necessary to modify the original proposal in order to make the extension financially possible, but the board is anxious to get at least some temporary relief from the present congestion created by the increased use of the library by the public and students in particular. The original proposal included construction of a second floor in the rear, but this, it is felt, might be left until later.

Extra space could be provided by squaring off the semi-circular end and installing a mezzanine floor, it was stated. The fact that the rear portion of the building is semi-circular causes a great deal of waste space so that the squaring off process would create a great deal more space than might otherwise be the case.

WOULD COST LITTLE

Alderman Dr. Hunter, in an interview yesterday, said he believed that this phase of the extension could be done quite inexpensively as much of the stonework now in the building could be used again.

On the Blanshard Street side of the semi-circle, the building is faced with cut stone. There is sufficient of it to form the new outside wall of the extension, while ordinary brick could be used for the rear and west walls. The west side of the semi-circle is faced with brick. The present foundation could be used, so that a central and two end supports is all that would be necessary to form the remaining part of the foundation for the extension.

Inasmuch as some of the present building could be used as material in the extension, Alderman Hunter believes the work could be done at little cost, and that if this cost were taken out of the $100,000 loan, it would not affect the city's budget.

Cost $8,084,059 To Handle Relief Camps in Canada

OTTAWA, March 12 (C.)—Total cost of operating relief camps for unemployed men by the Department of National Defence during 1935 was $8,084,059, a return tabled in the House of Commons today indicated. During the year, 75,082 men were cared for in the camps, the average length of residence being ninety-seven days.

During the previous year, 83,307 men were cared for in the camps, and the total cost was $7,462,280.

Postoffice Safe Is Carried Away And Forced Open

WHONNOCK, B.C., March 12 (CP).—A safe, stolen from the postoffice here last Saturday night, was found yesterday in an orchard about 100 yards from the postoffice.

The door of the strongbox had been chiseled open and $17 in cash taken, but the burglars left stamps and postal notes untouched.

The safe, which weighed about 250 pounds, had been carried from the office in a wheelbarrow.

In the contract price, it was stated, are included the substructure and superstructure of the bridge, and one north and one south approach. Canadian materials are being used.

Household Workers' Conditions Reviewed By Minister of Labor

Hon. G. S. Pearson, Addressing Provincial Council Of Women in Annual Session, Indicates Difficulties in Securing Uniformity of Regulations

SOME interesting sidelights on the difficulties of effecting uniformity or standardization, in connection with hours of labor and payment of household helpers, were presented by Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Mines and Labor, in an address to the annual meeting of the Provincial Council of Women at the Y.W.C.A. last evening.

While admitting the information he had on file might possibly represent the opinion of the dissatisfied, rather than the satisfied employees, he cited figures which indicated decidedly unfair conditions of employment. Out of 141 employees reporting, only twenty-six claimed to work less than twelve hours a day, and only seventeen reported an annual holiday of two weeks. Several girls reported not having sufficient to eat; one had had to supply her own blankets; one worked from 8:30 in the morning until 7 in the evening for $5.00 a month; one had no time off, and others reported that their health had completely broken down under the bad conditions.

WOMEN CAN HELP

The gist of Mr. Pearson's remarks was that such an organization as the Provincial Council of Women and Local Councils of Women could help greatly in working out some practical plan for the training of household helpers, and the securing of fairer and better standards of hours of work and pay. This would redound to the advantage of the employee and employer alike. It would obviously be impossible to set a fixed and uniform standard, as conditions in a workingman's family, for instance, might require a very different type and length of service, and a different scale of pay to that which would be possible in the business or professional man's household. The creation of a fixed minimum wage would not meet the problem.

One suggestion made was that some type of part-time service, such as is in practice in the Victorian Order of Nurses, might help to solve the problem. But with this there should go some standard of efficiency. This would demand training. A brief outline was given by Mr. Pearson of an experiment which was to be tried in connection with the employment service in Vancouver. Once the service was inaugurated it would go far to solve the unemployment problem among women.

Mr. Pearson's address stimulated considerable discussion, to which Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., Mrs. Spofford, Mrs. McLachlan, Mrs. Cromer Bruce and others contributed.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

At the same meeting the president, Mrs. Bagley, made her annual address. This she opened with a tribute to King George V, followed by an attestation of loyalty to King Edward VIII.

Reviewing the work of the Provincial Council during the past year, she touched on the study of social welfare acts, revision of school curricula, completion of national highways, condition of women prisoners at Oakalla, health insurance, medical examination before marriage, Joint Property Act, regulations governing old age pensions, setting up of portfolios of public welfare and various other questions debated.

A digest of the discussions of the National Council, whose annual meeting she had attended last June, was also given. During her visit in Ontario, Mrs. Bagley visited the women's section of the Kingston Penitentiary. A resolution re pensions for the blind, presented by Mrs. L. J. Rolston, of Vancouver Local Council, was adopted, and was being favorably supported by many members of Parliament at the present time.

COUNCILS REPORT

The various local councils' reports were read at last night's meeting. Mrs. Paul Smith asked the Provincial Council to be prepared with some expression on the question of sale of beer and light wine when waiting on the Government this morning, and Mrs. Rolston, of Vancouver, was asked to introduce the matter. Mrs. Smith also thought the council should express itself on the subject of the profuse cutting and exportation of Christmas trees, with special reference to the Powell River area.

The meeting, on motion of Mrs. Spofford, hereafter will bear the expenses of the vice-president's attendance at the annual meeting, this being in conformity with the practice in connection with other officers.

DELEGATES PRESENT

Following were the authorized delegates present at the annual meeting:

Mrs. A. C. Bagley, president, West Vancouver; Mrs. C. W. Murray, provincial corresponding secretary, New Westminster; Miss Edith Stevens, provincial recording secretary-treasurer, North Vancouver; Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., past-provincial president, Vancouver; Mrs. MacLachlan, provincial past-president, Vancouver; Mrs. C. C. Spofford, provincial vice-president, Victoria; Mrs. M. V. Jenks, New Westminster; Mrs. Cromer Bruce, North Vancouver; Mrs. F. J. Rolston, Vancouver; Mrs. David Hall, Vancouver; Mrs. N. R. FINED FOR ASSAULT MADE ON CHINESE

In the Saanich police court yesterday, Charles McGregor, charged with having assaulted Quon Wa on February 28, was found guilty and fined $20, with $10 costs added. The evidence showed that the Chinese, who lived at Gordon Head, was visited by the accused, who was seeking to buy feed for his cows. The Chinese discovered that his place had been broken into and some money had been taken.

The latter became excited and, according to the evidence brought out by Frank Higgins, K.C., who appeared for the Chinese, asked if the accused knew anything about it.

On the contrary, the evidence given by the accused, who was represented by H. A. Beckwith, was that the informant had accused him of taking the money. The accused, fearing from the actions of the Chinese that he was trying to get a weapon from his pocket, knocked the Chinese down.

Chief Allan Rankin, of Saanich police, testified that when he arrived he found the Chinese had two blackened eyes and was bleeding at the nose.

The police magistrate felt there was no doubt of the assault.

VANCOUVER, March 12 (CP.)—Mike Anderson was convicted by Magistrate H. S. Wood in police court today on a charge of being in possession of an automatic pistol and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Anderson was arrested by officers who became suspicious of him as they were scouring the city following a holdup on February 27.

In passing sentence the magistrate said anyone carrying a loaded revolver on the streets of the city did so at their own risk.

"There have been enough warnings against this offence given in the past," he said, "and sentences in keeping with this form of crime will be imposed."

CHALLENGE IS BEING HURLED

Island Dealers Told of Numerous Features of Frigidaire Refrigerators

With the slogan, "Buy on proof," the Frigidaire Corporation, through its Canadian representatives, is hurling a challenge to all other manufacturers of electrical refrigerators in 1936 to meet all five standards for refrigerator buying as does the Frigidaire.

In dynamic sales addresses, this message was given by William Garlick, Toronto, Western sales manager, Frigidaire division, of General Motors Corporation, and J. E. McCormick, in charge of British Columbia sales for McLennan, McFeely & Prior, Ltd., provincial distributors, to a meeting of fifty Island dealers and salesmen in the Empress Hotel last night. The gathering was under the auspices of the local branch of McLennan, McFeely & Prior, and the speakers were introduced by B. P. Schwengers, manager.

FIVE STANDARDS

Besides the interesting and informative addresses, the speakers had on display two models of the "new 1936 'meter-miser' Frigidaire," which they pointed out and proved had five great selling qualities—lower operating cost, safer food protection, faster freezing (more ice), more usability and five-year protection.

Two talking picture films were shown. One showed the new precision manufacturing methods used in the Frigidaire plants and concluded with a demonstration of the product's strength and ability to retain cold temperatures and resist water. A model was taken up in a Goodyear blimp off the Florida Coast and dropped from a great height, but it suffered in no way. The second picture told of the planned international sales campaign and showed the types of homes into which Frigidaires would go during the year.

"We are challenging the entire electrical refrigeration industry with the new 'meter-miser' Frigidaire," declared Mr. Garlick. The "meter-miser" is a new, effective and foolproof mechanical compressor, which the speaker claimed would curtail operating costs.

MANY FEATURES

The 1936 models have many attractive and serviceable attractions, which Mr. Garlick and Mr. McCormick outlined with enthusiasm. "The models are crammed full of practical features," Mr. Garlick asserted.

Both speakers urged dealers to conduct tests in their showrooms for the benefit of the public and to go into the homes of purchasers to prove the claims for Frigidaire.

The Frigidaire has a high place in the United States Government Consumers' Research Bureau, where it is used as the standard in making comparisons with other makes, Mr. McCormick explained.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Lepers Helped Through Mission Work in Africa

Miss Muriel Harman Gives Address to Salvation Army Home League on Life in Belgian Congo —Will Study Tropical Diseases

Lantern slides and word pictures describing a people bound by the fetters of witchcraft, ignorant and suffering made the address given at the Salvation Army Home League meeting yesterday by Miss Muriel Harman, R.N., of the Heart of Africa Mission, one of exceptional interest.

Miss Harman, who is home on furlough, has been connected with the work for the past nine years and is enthusiastic regarding the results achieved in the Belgian Congo in spite of the difficulties which beset the workers on all sides.

POWER OF WITCHCRAFT

She told of the life of the mission workers, of the customs of the natives and the horrors of hell, or witchcraft, which, she said, was "definitely the power of the devil." Fear was the great "bug-bear" of the natives and fear of death, above all else, accounted for much that was evil and responsible for the sufferings of the people.

Slides of the pygmies were shown, these people being looked upon by the other natives as merely animals. They were not obliged by the government to grow cotton or to pay taxes and other tribes used them as huntsmen or to assist them by dancing at the funeral orgies, which Miss Harman described in graphic detail.

LEPER COLONY

One of the important branches of the work in the mission in the Belgian Congo is that in connection with the lepers. Sufferers from this dread disease have been allowed to mix with their fellow men and thus spread the disease, for leprosy is not looked upon from the Western point of view. For four years, Miss Harman has been nursing and teaching in the mission's leper colony, pictures of the isolation huts shown to the audience yesterday give an excellent impression of the arrangements made for the care of the diseased natives.

It is in connection with the leper colony work that Miss Harman hopes to go to Antwerp before returning to the Belgian Congo, and will study for her diploma in tropical diseases, hoping to be better qualified for medical work, particularly with regard to doing more for the lepers.

Mrs. Maurice Wilkinson was in charge of yesterday's meeting and Mrs. Lawton Partington was the guest soloist. A large gathering of women interested in mission work attended the lecture.

Many revealing answers were given by James Young, Thomas Wilson, Douglas Ritchie, Leonard Cannon, Kenneth Hindson, Melville Vout and Gerald McNaught.

The worship service was conducted by Miss Doris Smith, assisted by Harvey Moir, Hing Hope, Audrey Bickford and Genevieve Knapp, on the theme, "My Responsibility to God." Brief forms and questionaires were distributed to everyone to help them to discover their vocational abilities, and suggest how they might improve their personal qualities.

Everyone joined in singing the young people's hymn, which is to be used as the slogan for the closing meetings, "On to Victory."

Herbert Simpson announced that next week the meeting would feature the Patron Saint of Ireland, and that an attractive programme was being arranged by Doris Smith and loyal group members. Rehearsals for the Easter play were well under way, and that it was hoped that many would keep the dates in mind and endeavor to attend on one of the three nights, April 13, 14 and 15, and invite others.

Health Insurance Under Fire Among Women's Councils

Delegates to Provincial Council's Annual Meeting Not Unanimously Behind Move, but Endorse "Principle"—Heavy Agenda Dealt With

WITH three local councils opposed and three local councils in favor, the British Columbia Provincial Council of Women, in annual quarterly session here yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A., took the vote of the immediate past president, Mrs. D. J. McLachlan; the vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, and the secretary, Mrs. C. W. Murray, to support and carry a resolution framed by Mrs. Spofford, of the Victoria Local Council, that the Provincial Council endorse the principle of health insurance.

The vote was taken following a lengthy discussion preparatory to instructing the delegation which is going from the Provincial Council this morning to present such resolutions and recommendations as they have been asked to carry to the Government.

When the vote of the individual local councils was called for, the following endorsed the principle of health insurance: Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster. Those voting against were Chilliwack, North Vancouver and Kamloops. Nanaimo, which was not represented, sent no instructions as to its attitude on the matter.

PRESENT ARGUMENTS

In the majority of cases where expression favored the principle of health insurance, the word "principle" was specially emphasized. In the course of the discussion some of the speakers noted that there had been some misinterpretation of Vancouver Council's recent resolution, which did not specifically endorse "the health insurance measure," but only the principle of health insurance. Mrs. Spofford, president of the Victoria Local Council, made the most important contribution to the debate in favor of endorsing the principle of state health insurance; and Mrs. McKay, of Vancouver, presented the other side of the argument, maintaining that the proposed measure was not actuarially sound.

The resolution as finally drafted was as follows: "That the British Columbia Provincial Council of Women endorses the principle of health insurance, but would like to know more about the bill."

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

Several other resolutions were dealt with in the course of the afternoon. Vancouver Local Council resolution that the Government of British Columbia be urged to establish a separate portfolio of public welfare to co-ordinate all phases of social welfare work failed to get the unanimous support of the meeting. Speaking to this, Mrs. Spofford (Victoria Local Council) suggested that the Government be commended for what it was doing in co-ordinating the various social welfare activities, and that the Provincial Council ask them to continue along the same lines.

A resolution from the Chilliwack Local Council asking for revision of the Old Age Pensions Act has already been endorsed by five councils, and will be submitted to the Government today.

The Vancouver Local Council's resolution asking for a joint property act was referred back to the Vancouver Local Council for revision on motion of Mrs. Norman Porter, who asked that a copy of the California Joint Property Act be supplied to members for study.

CATHEDRAL GROVE

A resolution, emanating from the Victoria Local Council, urges on the Government the necessity of preserving Cathedral Grove, "one of Vancouver Island's priceless assets." This was moved by Mrs. Spofford (Victoria) and seconded by Mrs. J. R. Gilley (New Westminster), and will be presented to the Government by the delegation that will go to the Parliament Buildings this morning.

The delegation will also carry from the Provincial Council a resolution reiterating the women's stand against crime movies, and urging that newsreels be made to conform to the statute. Members claimed that "G" men pictures were merely a camouflage of the old gangster pictures. On the other hand, one member stated that theatre managers were unanimously agreed that the gangster picture was waning in popularity.

GIVE PERMISSION

On motion of Mrs. Spofford, seconded by Mrs. McLachlan, the Provincial Council gave permission to Vancouver Local Council to request the Government to give its sanction for revision of the Vancouver City charter.

The president, Mrs. A. C. Bagley, informed the meeting that the National Council had recommended that local councils make a study of their year book, and referred to special clauses.

Mrs. Spofford reported the findings of her special committee with regard to the enlargement of executive or appointment of national officers. In this connection it had been decided that voting privileges should be limited to the elected representatives of local councils.

Mrs. Bagley reported the results of conversations and correspondence with Hon. G. M. Sloan, K.C., Attorney-General, with reference to improvement of conditions for women prisoners at Oakalla. She had met with most sympathetic response, Mr. Sloan stating that he had a tentative plan whereby proper quarters would be provided apart from the jail. Mrs. Spofford also stated that she had found Mr. Sloan most anxious to see that justice was carried out.

FOR MARKETING BOARD

Mrs. Tomer, convener of agriculture for the Vancouver Local Council, asked that representations be made as to the value of having a woman on the Marketing Board to represent the buyers. Put in the form of a resolution, seconded by Mrs. Porter, this was endorsed by the meeting.

Mrs. F. J. Rolston's report on the discussion of points raised in regard to mothers' pensions at the meeting of the women's organizations held last November in Vancouver under the auspices of the Provincial Secretary's Department, occupied a considerable period of the afternoon session. The meeting yesterday was agreed that a more liberal interpretation of the act was essential. Among the points discussed were restoration of amount of allowance to the amount stated in the act; the raising of the age limit of children to eighteen years, provided they remain at school or were apprenticed at a low wage, and the position in cases of women who had entered into separation agreements.

Second Mile Club Enjoys Irish Numbers

The Second Mile Club of First Baptist Church, held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sidney G. Cave, 912 St. Patrick Street. A short business period was held, after which an Irish programme of music and contests was enjoyed. Mrs. M. C. Waller, convenor of arrangements, was in charge.

Mrs. William Milne sang "The Hill of Donegal." Mrs. A. Slater, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Standish and Mrs. Fuggle were the contest prizewinners. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were: Mrs. I. E. Rogers, Mrs. Robert Hogarth, Mrs. Walter Laing, Mrs. A. Coles, Mrs. F. L. Shaw, Mrs. William Milne, Mrs. C. W. Dodsworth, Mrs. George Bishop, Mrs. W. J. Standish, Mrs. J. Pearse, Mrs. A. Middleton, Mrs. W. Holm, Mrs. Allen Slater, Mrs. M. Richardson, Mrs. M. C. Waller, Mrs. A. D. Fuggle, Mrs. L. Ebert, and Mrs. W. Seymour, of Fort Qu-Appelle, Sask.

SCORES APATHY TO TOURIST INDUSTRY

portance of the tourist industry on Vancouver Island, members of the governing council decided to organize another missionary caravan which will visit every community. The caravan will include the mayors of six cities and a number of speakers on tourist topics. Meetings and plans for a bigger and better season are to be formulated during the tour.

MINISTER HEARD

Dealing with reforestation, Rev. Glen Stevenson said the question was a vital issue and should take precedence over any other national problem. He asserted it was absolutely necessary to convince the Provincial Government that development of the tourist industry was of primary importance to Vancouver Island prosperity.

Mr. Simms reported that Courtenay, Comox, Cumberland and adjoining communities intended to operate an information booth at Vancouver for the benefit of those who intended to visit the Island or come as permanent residents.

Urgent need for completion of the road from Cumberland to Port Alberni was also stressed by Mr. Simms. He said Courtenay intended to petition the Provincial Government with a view to obtaining Federal assistance for the project. Members of the governing council heartily agreed to endorse the plea.

BARGAIN FARES

Negotiations for bargain fares on the E. & N. Railway during the months of June, July, August and September were reported on by the general secretary, James Macfarlane, general Canadian Pacific Railway agent at Victoria, who was present, assured members of the council that the railway would co-operate to the fullest extent possible.

Mayor Leeming pointed out to Mr. Macfarlane that the population of Vancouver Island would not be built up until railways were willing to take a present loss and be content with large future gains.

Mayor Walkem gave a brief outline of bathing and boating facilities around Ladysmith, stressing the moderate temperature of the water during the Summer months.

Mayor Barsby told the council that the annual yacht race from Seattle next Summer would again terminate at Nanaimo, in response to an invitation from the Nanaimo council.

VOTES OF THANKS

A hearty vote of thanks to Bruce A. McKelvie, managing editor of The Daily Colonist, for his informative series of articles on Vancouver Island and the need for a new deal was passed by the council. Speaking for their various communities, members referred to the effect the articles had in convincing hundreds of residents that the Island was not being treated fairly. A vote of thanks was also passed to The Daily Colonist for the able way in which Mr. McKelvie's articles had been publicized.

Re-election Is Unanimous

MRS. A. C. BAGLEY

OF Vancouver, who last night, at the annual meeting of the Provincial Council of Women, was returned to the president's office by acclamation. Other officers were chosen as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. Rex Eaton, Vancouver; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. W. Murray, of New Westminster; recording secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Carl Grossman, of Chilliwack.

Miss Edith Stevens, the retiring recording secretary-treasurer, was presented with a pretty corsage bouquet of roses and freesia, the gift being accompanied by the president's graciously expressed appreciation of valuable services rendered and very happy co-operation.

Mrs. Bagley will head the Provincial Council delegation that will wait on the Government this morning, to present certain resolutions and recommendations passed by yesterday's meeting. The delegation will be introduced by Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P.

Would Bar Purse Seine for Salmon

OTTAWA, March 12 (CP).—With the object of barring use of purse seines in salmon fishing at the mouth of the Fraser River, Thomas Reid, Liberal member for New Westminster, B.C., has given notice of an amendment he will move to the Fisheries Act.

Mr. Reid's contention is that use of purse seines is injurious to the salmon fisheries, and also deprives gill-net fishermen of a chance to make a living.

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., March 12 (CP).—Residents of this Nova Scotia district were treated to some rare old-fashioned figure skating yesterday when Albert Bridges, seventy-six, donned his skates and gave an exhibition on a pond near his home.

$4,000,000 Movie Contract Refused By Noted Dancer

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP).—The World-Telegram said today that Fred Astaire, song and dance star of the movies, is dissatisfied with a new contract said to provide him with $4,000,000.

The R-K-O studio, The World-Telegram story said, offered Astaire and Ginger Rogers $8,000,000 for eight pictures together. First of Astaire's objections, the story said, is the continued partnership between himself and Miss Rogers.

He is quoted as saying this unvaried pairing of their talents will weaken their box-office value.

He also objects to constant work, the newspaper said, and wants from six to eight months off that he might visit his sister, Adele, Lady Cavendish, in Ireland.

with the tranquility of other nations.

The Reichsfuehrer reaffirmed his overtures for a new European peace pact characterizing his offer last week as the "most magnanimous ever made anywhere."

His denunciation of Russia was based on a double criticism of Soviet policy, extending even to what he declared was an "international movement to prevent the nations from coming to the Olympics."

LOUDLY APPLAUDED

Hitler's words were broken time after time by loud salvos of applause from his listeners. He interrupted his own words once with a fit of racking coughs after he had become hoarse in a declamation of German progress against unemployment.

"Germany, because it believed others had violated the treaty, renounced that treaty," the Reichsfuehrer declared in an explanation of events of the last few days. "It drew from this fact the only logical consequence—namely, the re-establishment of its sovereignty."

The Nazi leader said he had "tried to apply the same principles that guided the Polish-German relations also to our relations with France."

"Perhaps this was the first time a German nationalist has asserted that continuation of the hereditary enmities between the two nations was senseless."

Will Close Gospel Addresses Tonight

Closing tonight a series of Gospel addresses in Oaklands Gospel Hall, corner of Cedar Hill Road and Hillside Avenue, A. Widdison, who is en route to Australia and the Far East, will have something to say concerning "The Angel of Mons." Mr. Widdison was badly wounded in 1914, but recovered later and has since been able to carry on evangelistic work.

SAANICH TO ASK FOR SOIL SURVEY

Free Investigation of Farm Lands To Be Sought by Council Of Municipality

To make preliminary application for a soil survey by the combined Federal-Provincial Departments of Agriculture on the Saanich Peninsula, three Saanich councillors were named last night to confer with Dr. William Newton, of the Dominion Experimental Station, Sidney, a member of the soil survey committee.

In recent months, it was said, both departments had carried out extensive soil survey work in the Interior and were now working in the Lower Mainland.

It was possible Saanich Peninsula could be covered next year. Little hope for a survey this year was held out to the council. There would be no cost to the municipality for this work, it was stated.

Such a survey would aid Saanich farmers materially in combatting soil problems and would probably save hundreds of dollars for them, it was claimed.

Dr. Newton will be asked to submit a report on soil conditions existing in Saanich, and from his report the Saanich council will base their appeal to the departments, the council said. Councillors L. C. Hagan, H. D. Coton and A. G. Lambrick will meet Dr. Newton.

TENOR DOESN'T LIKE FOOD ADVERTISEMENT; FILES $20,000 SUIT

NEW YORK, March 12 (CP).—Giovanni Martinelli, describing himself as "a prominent operatic tenor, widely known as such throughout the United States of America and the entire world," is suing Wil-Low Cafeterias, Inc., for $20,000, charging "a slur and a blemish upon the public character and reputation of the plaintiff."

The opera tenor alleged the cafeteria corporation, in an advertisement last January 16, claimed he recommended a certain food.

The advertisement, Martinelli's suit contends, represented him "to be a person who would seek notoriety by such means."

MINISTERIAL UNION MEETS AT QUALICUM

QUALICUM BEACH, March 12—The regular monthly meeting of the Upper Island Ministerial Union was held at the Qualicum Beach Manse on Monday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Rev. F. C. Chapman, the chair was occupied by Rev. J. Hardman, of Cumberland. The principal feature of the meeting was the life and works of Robert Burns, sketching briefly the career of the Scottish poet and referring to his love of nature, and contempt of all kinds of shams and unreality. The meeting closed with refreshments and a social hour. The next meeting will be held at the United Church Manse, at Cumberland, on Monday, April 6.

GREATER WATER SUPPLY NEEDED

City of Penticton Will Apply to Government to Increase Storage in Lakes

PENTICTON, March 12 (CP).—The Penticton City Council has decided to apply to the British Columbia Government water board for permission to store 3,000 acre feet of water in Okanagan Lake and 1,500 acre feet in Skaha Lake, it was announced today.

This action is to guarantee adequate water supply for the city in future years. When the population here increases sufficiently, it was said, all hill water will be needed for domestic purposes and the proposed additional supply will be for irrigation.

Oliver already has applied for permission to store 100,000 acre feet in Okanagan Lake and 30,000 acre feet in Skaha Lake. If this water is used, it was reported, the minimum height of Okanagan Lake will be reduced about twelve feet and Skaha Lake about six feet.

VANCOUVER, March 12 (CP).—Catholic bishops of all parts of Canada and the United States have been invited to attend the Diocesan Eucharistic Congress here, June 11 to 14, His Excellency W. M. Duke, Archbishop of Vancouver, announced today.

Peter and Winsome Bluebird Gossip

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER AND WINSOME BLUEBIRD GOSSIP

To gossip is to talk about other people and what they are doing or what they have done or what they are going to do. Peter Rabbit and Winsome Bluebird were gossiping in the dear Old Brier Patch. Winsome sat in a little cherry tree and right under him sat Peter. Winsome had just arrived from way down South to spread the glad news that Mistress Spring was on her way and would soon reach the Green Meadows, the Green Forest, and the Smiling Pool. You see, Winsome is the herald of Mistress Spring and keeps just a little way ahead of her. When the little meadow and forest people first see his beautiful blue coat, or hear his soft, sweet whistle, they know that Mistress Spring is surely on the way and not far behind, and then great joy fills their hearts. First comes gentle Sister South Wind to prepare the way, then Winsome Bluebird, and after him beautiful Mistress Spring.

Peter Rabbit was brimful of curiosity, just as he always is. You see it was a long time since he had last seen Winsome Bluebird and all the other birds who had gone to the faraway South when the leaves began to drop in the Fall, and, of course, he wanted to know all about his old friends and neighbors, how they were, what they had been doing and when they were coming back. And Winsome wanted to know all about how Peter and Reddy Fox and all the other little people who hadn't gone to the beautiful South had spent the long Winter. So there was a great deal to talk about. Yes, indeed, there was a very great deal to talk about. Winsome felt that he ought to be flying about over the Green Meadows and the Green Forest, where other little people could see him and hear him, and so know that he had arrived, but he had travelled a very, very great distance and he was tired, and so he sat and rested, and while he rested he gossiped with Peter Rabbit.

"Is Ol' Mistah Buzzard on his way here?" asked Peter eagerly.

"Not yet," replied Winsome. "He won't start until after he is sure that Mistress Spring has got here," replied Winsome.

Peter looked a little disappointed, for there is nothing that he enjoys more than to watch Mistah Buzzard sail around and around, way, way up in the blue, blue sky. He is rather fond of Ol' Mistah Buzzard, is Peter Rabbit, for big as he is Mistah Buzzard never offers to hurt any of the very little people, not even little Danny Meadow Mouse. "Why isn't he starting right away?" he asked.

"Well, you see," replied Winsome. "Mistah Buzzard doesn't like the cold."

"But it isn't cold now" interrupted Peter. "Why, this isn't cold at all. You ought to have been here when it really was cold—when the Smiling Pool and the Laughing Brook were covered with ice and the Green Meadows and the Green Forest were all white with snow, and poor Mrs. Grouse was a prisoner under the hard, icy crust. Then it was cold! Why, this isn't cold at all."

Winsome Bluebird ruffled up his feathers just a little. It was almost like a shiver. "This is cold enough for me!" said he. "Tell me about poor Mrs. Grouse, Peter. Did she get out?"

"You tell me about Ol' Mistah Buzzard first, and how he spends the Winter, and then I'll tell you about poor Mrs. Grouse," replied Peter.

"All right," said Winsome. "There isn't a great deal to tell, but I'll do the best I can."

SAFE, QUICK RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS HEAD NOISES - EARACHE
You will be surprised and delighted how quickly Aurine will help you. No matter how severe your deafness or head noises, ringing and buzzing in ears, discharge, dryness, itching or pain in ears—a few drops of Aurine in each ear daily for a short time is sure to help you.
Dr. Edward Kolar, M.D., said: "Many of my patients have enjoyed unusually prompt relief."
R. P. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says: "Have just finished my first bottle; glad to state I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time I heard the church bell ring in two years."
Joseph Meredith, of Ontario, writes: "I have suffered for over fifty years, sometimes I was stone deaf. I used only a half a bottle of Aurine, the head noises disappeared and I could hear people talking clearly. I am recommending Aurine to everyone."
No matter how stubborn your deafness, head noises, earache or catarrh trouble are, you must try Aurine.

CHAPTER XI

Thora made no response when Sherman Gordon said "good-bye," but moved to the nearest window when she heard the door close. She watched the white figure walk down the drive for a short distance, then turn abruptly and stride over the grass in the direction of the nearest fence. When Gordon reached it, he laid one hand on the top rail and vaulted over the barrier without effort.

He was taking an accustomed short-cut to his home, Thora conjectured. At all events, he was gone.

Still puzzling over the unusual interview, Thora made her way to the kitchen where Katie Donahue was moving about busily, making initial preparations for dinner.

"We just had a caller," Thora remarked. "A Mr. Gordon."

"Mr. Sherm, was it?" Katie dusted her floury hands on her apron. "Sure, I thought I heard him plaguing the planny. Come to ask if Miss Wilma got home, I guess."

"Yes. That was what he wanted. He told me he was an old friend of the family."

"Sure. He's like one of 'em."

"What does he do, Katie?"

"Well . . ." Mrs. Donahue's plump arm was circling busily above a mixing bowl. "They do say, Miss Thora, that he's bein' a lawyer of some sort. It doesn't seem to me he does much of anythin'. He's got a place fixed in a field back here where he an' his friends play crokay."

"Sure. And a lazy bunch they are. They ride horses and make the poor creatures do all the work. He's a grand-lookin' lad. I'm curious to see how Miss Wilma's goin' to be behavin' to him when she comes home."

"What do you mean, Katie?"

"I think Mr. Sherm'll get down to courtin' her, if she stays still long enough."

"I thought perhaps they were engaged," Thora observed guardedly. After all, there was no harm in exacting what she might regarding the general situation at Fair Acres.

"Faith, no," was the ready retort. "Maybe they know each other too good. Like brother and sister they were when Miss Wilma was a-growin' up. Maybe you know how that goes. You get so used to a body, you're not sure if you like 'em or not . . . enough to marry 'em."

"Yes, Thora said slowly, "I know what you mean."

Katie was dropping spoonfuls of batter into greased muffin pans with careless dexterity.

"It's a queer thing. Take me and my Pat, now. I knowed him a bare two weeks before he took me to the priest. If I'd knowed him one day more . . . I'd a sent him about his business with a clout on the ear. But, as I was sayin' . . . I can't figure Miss Wilma. Last time she's home, she's playin' the grand lady. After bein' in the Old Country like she has, she'll likely be puttin' on more airs. She needs a good man to put her in her place. Now, I'm . . ."

But before Katie Donahue could continue her friendship observations, Jane, in cap and apron, appeared in the kitchen. The cook's demeanor changed at once.

"Was the boss sayin' if he'd be back for dinner, Miss Thora?"

"He was not sure. You may serve at the usual time, please."

"Then these muffins are goin' in the oven now."

Selwyn Marsh did not return for the evening meal and his housekeeper found herself dining in lonely state. She would have liked much better to have her food in the kitchen tonight. But that might establish a wrong precedent. And Mr. Marsh might return, too.

Thora repressed a smile, as Jane began serving. If she had known she was going to be alone, she reflected whimsically, she might have invited Mr. Gordon to remain.

She would have been surprised had she known that Sherman Gordon, just at that minute, was making a mental memorandum to see Selwyn Marsh as soon as possible. There were many things he must know about that fair-haired girl from the West.

The following morning, when Ted Gardiner brought the mail from the box at the entrance gates, he encountered Thora Dahl in the dining-room and surrendered the bundle of papers and letters to her.

"You deliver 'em," he suggested with a grin, his general demeanor indicating that he did not care to interview his employer unless it were necessary. Thora hastily sorted the missives into some semblance of neatness and carried them to the library.

"Here is the mail, Mr. Marsh."

"Thanks. Sit down a minute."

Thora helped herself to a chair and watched Marsh as he sorted through the letters. When he spoke again, it was without looking up.

"Hear you had a visitor yesterday."

"A Mr. Gordon called."

"I meant to tell you. When I'm out, I'd be glad if you'd make a note of callers . . . phone messages, too. Leave them here on the table if you don't mind. Sherm called me last night . . ." Marsh was scowling at a long envelope. "He doesn't count . . . on your list. Or Mrs. Steele."

"Yes, sir."

"I suppose Sherm told you about the book I'm working on?"

"He mentioned it."

"Knocked it, you mean. That's his idea of being humorous . . . these young fellows don't take anything seriously. What did he have to say?" Marsh looked closely at his housekeeper, as he tossed the morning's mail aside.

"He said . . ." Thora began cautiously, "that you were doing a considerable amount of research work."

"I'll say I am!" The author's eye brightened. "If you've been teaching, you should be well up on history. How are you on the Revolution?"

"Well . . . I think I remember some of the fundamentals." Thora was having a difficult time to keep from smiling.

The evening before, she had stolen into the library and scanned the book shelves with sinister intent. Selecting one of the many volumes she found there dealing with American history, she had fled to her room with the book and pored over its pages until a late hour. Her great hope now was that her employer would not miss the work before she had a chance to return it to its place.

GARDENS BRING MANY VISITORS

W. H. Warren, City Parks Superintendent, Makes Suggestions

Gardens as a tourist attraction have a drawing power far greater than fishing on Southern Vancouver Island, W. H. Warren, city parks superintendent, told members of the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Warren declared that the different atmosphere of Victoria, its untouched coastline, British customs and dress, and informality of the gardens were greatly appreciated by United States visitors. Because a greater variety of trees, flowers and shrubs grew here than in any other part of Canada, he believed the future of the tourist industry lay in gardens and atmosphere of the city.

He advocated tearing down many fences and replacing them with low hedges or borders of perennial flowers, clothing large buildings with Boston ivy, growing more dahlias and Spring flowering bulbs, putting in more floral borders, setting in more Japanese cherry, magnolia, flowering crab apple and currant bushes, and cultivating many plants like bamboo, which flourished here.

GARDEN CONTESTS

Mr. Warren also believed contests for the best Winter gardens and decorated outdoor Christmas trees would be valuable. He paid tribute to work of the Victoria Horticultural Society, Vancouver Island Horticultural Association, and the rose, dahlia and Alpine garden societies.

Making a plea for the preservation of wild flowers of Greater Victoria, the speaker told how flowering dogwood, currant, Oregon grape and even skunk cabbage as a bog plant were readily sold and appreciated in the British Isles.

He gave a brief account of work being carried out in Beacon Hill Park to accentuate its natural beauty and urged Rotarians and their families to make freer use of city parks.

DEATHS INCREASE AMONG VETERANS

Last Post Fund Burials Are Up From Eighty in 1934 to 606

OTTAWA, March 12 (CP).—Deaths among war veterans are rapidly increasing in number, Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, told the House of Commons yesterday as it approved a grant of $60,000 to the Last Post Fund.

The minister said the fund was established in 1921 to provide burial for indigent ex-service men and the number of men buried with the fund's resources had steadily increased since then. In the fiscal year 1921-22 the number was eighty-three, and in 1934-35 the number had risen to 606. Indications were it was still far from reaching its peak, as the veterans were getting older.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

TEAM-OF-FOUR MATCHES

Team-of-four matches constitute the truest test of bridge skill available, but, unfortunately, the element of luck is still inescapable. Of course, if the contest is one of 300 or 400 hands, luck is reduced to a negligible factor and the better team should win, but such contests are much too time-consuming for ordinary tournaments. Here the average Inter-team match is approximately forty hands, until the finals, when sixty to 100 are played.

As in single contests of rubber bridge play, the cards are apt to have decided trends. Thus, it may well be that a consistent overbidder will have a veritable field day, finding every finesse successful and every suit breaking miraculously. Contrariwise, at other sessions the cards are sullen, refusing to permit the fulfilment of the most legitimate contracts, and the timid souls get unjust rewards. In both cases, it should be noted, the perfect bidder is enormously handicapped.

A VERY TRICKY GRAND SLAM

The hand shown today was the deciding factor in the final round of a recent team-of-four championship match.

♥ A 10 8

♣ A 9 7 3

At one table the correct contract of six spades was reached, played as safely as possible and, of course, fulfilled. At the other table the bidding was:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	7 spades (final bid)

The most superficial analysis discloses that the grand slam has considerable less than an even chance for success. It should be noted that the spade king must not only be in East's hand (unless singleton in West, and declarer peeks), but must not be doubly guarded. North's only entry is by means of a club ruff, which reduces the trump holding to two cards. Thus, even if East has the king, but has at least two small trumps as well, the diamond suit never can be run. East has simply to cover the second spade lead from dummy.

On a purely mathematical, non-double-dummy basis there was only one chance in four of the slam succeeding, yet with the cards as they were it was made. The goddess of luck often favors the rash.

How to make good Buckwheat Cakes

1. Mix milk or water with equal amounts of Aunt Jemima Buckwheat. In a twinkling batter is ready.
2. Have griddle or skillet just hot enough. To test, put a drop of water on griddle. If it goes right up in a puff of steam, griddle is too hot. If it bounces around a second before evaporating, griddle is hot enough.
3. Grease griddle very lightly. Don't pour grease on. Spread it thinly with pad.
4. Pour batter into griddle. Let each side bake until golden brown.

GROCERS OFFER NEW MEAL-PLANNING SERVICE!

In one order you can obtain from your grocer anything you need for Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu—complete with printed, easy directions. With Aunt Jemima's special buckwheat mixture it's so easy to get hot cakes light and well-done. And with far more fluffiness than ordinary bread or biscuit flour. Because Aunt Jemima's contains only about half as much gluten as ordinary flour. And gluten, you know, is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process. That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's buckwheat cakes come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes buckwheat cakes are on the fire.

A stack of three Aunt Jemima's buckwheat cakes, a square of butter and one ounce of syrup are only 391 calories. Yet standard diets permit a total of 2,000 to 4,000 calories in the three daily meals.

Enjoy Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu at your next meal.

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If March 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

It might be well to remember on this day that "we all of us live too much in a circle." You must not permit any circumstance to cause you to feel that you must blindly submit to some unfavorable condition. If you exert yourself you can circumvent it. This day, being Friday the 13th, should prove to be a very auspicious one for you. Any new, logical idea, especially if it applies to some business policy, is likely to be well received this day, so do not hesitate to pass it on. Veracity must be strictly adhered to in any business presentation, because misrepresentation is apt to prove a serious trouble-maker. You may be tempted to persuade yourself that you are justified in doing something which your conscience warns is wrong. It will be good judgment to listen to that still, small voice. It might keep you out of a peck of trouble. Married and engaged couples, as well as those expecting to become formally affianced, should not allow some outsider to cause them to quarrel.

If a woman, and March 13 is your birthday, as you can detect faults easily, be careful this does not lead to a habit of continually criticizing. You have an unusual amount of discernment, so that your judgment regarding many things can be relied upon. You are, perhaps, very outspoken. It might be advisable to temper your frankness with a copious amount of tact. You are unusually intelligent, so you ought to be capable of making a great success of anything you undertake, where money-making possibilities exist. Stupidity irks you. Therefore, to be happily married the man of your choice must have brains, and know how to use them. Business, clerical or some kind of artistic work may lead to the realization of your fondest hopes.

The child born on March 13 perhaps in its early youth will more than fulfil its parents' expectations. It will be endowed with many sterling qualities.

If a man, and March 13 is your natal day, you probably take the initiative in matters of importance when others hesitate. Fearless, with plenty of ability, combined with an abundance of common sense, nothing should be able to handicap you. Law, medicine, engineering, physical culture, acting, or some commercial activity perhaps will offer you unlimited money-making opportunities.

RETAINS MAY TULLY TROPHY

Oak Bay High School Girls' Grass Hockeyists Defeat Locals, 5-3

Oak Bay High School girls yesterday retained the prized May Tully Trophy for the second successive year by defeating the Victoria High School eleven, 5-3, in the third and deciding game of the series played on the Fernwood ground. The Oak Bay team led the way during the first half with a 3 to 2 score. The game was close throughout with the Oak Bay eleven possessing the finer shooting ability.

Sheila Swift started the scoring of the day for Oak Bay with a shot from close in. Violet Waterworth evened the count shortly afterwards. Retaliating immediately the Oak Bay squad started a fine passing movement which ended up with Rosemary Turner scoring. Persisting in the attack Rowenna McNeely placed the winners farther in the lead. Lois Bell, Victoria High forward, ended the first-half scoring with a difficult shot past the Oak Bay goalie.

DEADLOCKS SCORE

Soon after resumption of play Lois Bell again tallied and the two teams were deadlocked. The Oak Bay forwards continued to pound at the Victoria defence and Anne Lyster and Betty Sheppard both obtained goals in a short interval of time. The game ended shortly afterwards.

Mrs. H. A. Tomalin refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

Oak Bay High School — Swift, Lyster, Sheppard, Turner, McNeely, Dorothy Cook, Grace Cook, Stewart, Arnold, Pearson and Fulton.

Victoria High School — Smith, Gahan, Evans, Brewis, McDonald, Bell, Whyte, Peden, Waterworth, Malcolm and McBain.

DOMINION FILMS ENGLISH MUSICAL

"First a Girl" Is G.B. Comedy—Six New Song Hits Featured In Bright Play

"First a Girl," Jessie Matthews' successor to her triumphal appearance in "Evergreen," has been a long time in arriving because the dancing star, Princess Personality Herself, has had a severe illness that required a long period of recuperation. But now she is fully restored to health and gayer spirits than ever before. She will appear in her new GB musical comedy romance, which is coming today to the Dominion Theatre.

"First a Girl" makes claim to being a dancing picture with six new song hits and almost as many dance numbers. Maurice Sigler, Al Hoffman and Al Goodhart, composers of "I Saw Stars," "Little Man You've Had a Busy Day," and other big hits, wrote the music and lyrics. Some of the titles are "The Little Silkworm," "Half and Half," "It's Written All Over Your Face" and "Everything's in Rhythm With My Heart."

CAPITOL THEATRE Eddie Cantor is keeping the Capitol Theatre audiences in gales of laughter as the pathetic little product of a correspondence course in dominant personality development in "Strike Me Pink," his new Samuel Goldwyn screen musical in which he is supported by Ethel Merman, Sally Eilers, Parkyakarkus, his "Greek" stooge of radio fame; William Frawley and a gorgeous new crop of Goldwyn Girls.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Chester Morris reverted to the past in a role reminiscent of one of his great hits of earlier days when he donned convict garb for prison sequences in "Public Hero Number 1," secret service drama now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. In the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture he wore the same convict uniform which he used some years ago in "The Big House." The new picture, a dramatic detective story, has an elaborate cast that includes Lionel Barrymore, Joseph Calleia, Lewis Stone, Jean Arthur and others of note.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Featuring a death-dealing typhoon which sweeps the Indian Ocean and wrecks a Chinese tramp schooner, and battles staged by men against wild beasts trapped with them on a jungle island as a result of the catastrophe, Universal's sensational adventure production, "East of Java," starring Charles Bickford, and now at the Columbia Theatre.

IRISH COMEDY WILL BE OFFERED TUESDAY

No details are being overlooked in the staging of the delightful Irish comedy, "The Far-Off Hills," to be presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre on March 17, St. Patrick's Day, under the direction of James McGrath.

Furnishings for the various settings are being supplied through the generosity of Willows Plowman Company and Champions, Ltd. The B.C. Electric Company is responsible for the fixtures, and transportation will be supplied by the Warner Moving and Storage Company. A full orchestra will be in attendance, and the boys of St. Louis College Choir will contribute a group of choral numbers.

Rehearsals are in progress and the well-chosen cast is bringing out the highlights and artistry of this popular work by Lennox Robertson. The funds of St. Louis College will benefit through the programme.

KUBELIK AT PEAK IN BRILLIANT CAREER

An eloquent and inspiring reminder of a golden age of music, which existed before the outbreak of the Great War, is the concert in the Empire Theatre here on Monday, March 16, of Jan Kubelik, world-famed violinist.

His first concert tours of America are said to have created the greatest sensations in the history of music in America, and are as historic as the memorable tour of Jenny Lind under the guidance of the mighty Barnum.

These tours lasted until the war, which compelled Kubelik, an Austro-Hungarian subject, to abandon his plans for further concerts. Following the war he resumed his concertizing, playing mainly in Europe, where he has never ceased to be the favorite violinist, as well as in South America, Africa, Australia and Asia.

This season finds Kubelik, at fifty-four, at the zenith of his marvelous powers. Recognized as the greatest living technician, his concerts are described as an enthralling display of breath-taking pyrotechnics, coupled with a tone of almost unearthly beauty.

CARDS BEATEN IN VANCOUVER

Victoria Girls Lose to Province, 20-15, in Basketball Series

VANCOUVER, March 12 (C.P.)—Vancouver Province girl basketeers tonight handed the Victoria Cardinals a 20-15 defeat in a sudden death game here in the British Columbia intermediate "A" women's final. The result gives the Province girls the British Columbia crown, Vernon the Interior finalists, having defaulted.

The Vancouver girls, playing a steady game, took the lead from the opening whistle and led throughout. The Cardinals, whose entire personnel consisted of six girls, apparently felt the effects of their trip from the Island and had difficulty in finding the basket even with perfect scoring chances.

Province led 8-5 at the interval and on resumption of play began another steady advance into Cardinal territory to increase their lead.

Doug McIntyre, of Vancouver, and a Victoria referee, Tommy Macedo, handled the game.

INTERIOR DEFAULTS

Ken Walton, secretary of the Canadian Basketball Association, announced after the game the receipt of a wire from the Vernon team saying they would be unable to meet the guarantee to bring the Coast winners to Vernon and that they would be unable to secure the gymnasium for the scheduled game on Saturday night.

Line-ups:

Victoria Cardinals—V. Hall, (4), V. Hannan (3), J. Trotter (2), M. Wells, B. Crosby (16). Total, 15.

Vancouver Province—M. Code (6), Pepper, Downie, Boyce, Lewis Williamson, Scott (4), D. Aspinall (4), Smith (6). Total 20.

Fire Scenes Are Feature of News At the Dominion

FIREMEN fight sub-zero temperature as well as a severe fire in the scenes brought to Victoria by The Colonist Universal Newsreel, now showing at the Dominion Theatre. When a famous convent caught fire in Montreal a short time ago, the cameraman was on the job to record the gallant struggle against flames which swept the building, and the bitter cold that sheathed ladders and trucks with ice to hinder the intrepid workers.

Closer home are the scenes of Snoqualmie Pass, Washington, when a snowslide blotted out three lives and death barely passed many others as they were caught on the highway. Other interesting shots include the failure of the rocket plane to make an experimental flight with mail; the famous carnival at New Orleans, and a forecast of Spring styles from Florida.

Officials of the Yacht Club Announce Long Programme of Races

Motorboat Races Off—Cruises Will Be Undertaken Instead—Courses for Certain Sailing Races Decided On

With the distribution of the programme of yachting activities for the year 1936, extensive as it is, there is no provision for motorboat owners to match speeds one with the other. There is not a motorboat race in all the long list.

Querying officials of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club as to the possibility of a separate programme being issued for motorboat men, it was explained that instead of holding the regular Saturday afternoon events for motorcraft, as in the past, cruises will be organized, it being agreed that all owners of sail and power vessels with accommodation for guests will take as many non-boat-owning members of the club along on these outings as can be conveniently looked after.

In addition to the list of events sent out, the club will also stage its race for the Lipton Trophy, the course for which will in future be from Victoria to some point off the United States shore and back, while a new race to be staged annually by the local club, to be called the "Straits Race," will be sailed this year in connection with the big international regatta during the latter part of June and early July.

GUARANTEE IS NEEDED

Negotiations Continuing in Effort to Bring Bluenose To North Pacific

Negotiations are still being carried on between George Willis, of Enterprise Wharf, and Captain Angus Walters, skipper of the famous fishing schooner Bluenose. There is not much doubt but that the queen of the Atlantic fishing fleet would prove a profitable attraction in Pacific Coast ports, and if a guarantee is forthcoming and the visit to the major harbors of the Western seaboard is arranged, many persons would undoubtedly spend some change for the privilege of looking over the historic craft.

In a letter received from the skipper of the Bluenose yesterday, he outlines for Mr. Willis' benefit the financial situation at considerable length. He states that in order to cover wages, supplies, port charges, insurance and other expenses, it would be necessary for the schooner to stock $12,000, which, he adds, should be easily recovered.

Apparently the Bluenose on her port-storming expeditions earns money in a variety of ways. Captain Walters states that he has carried as many as 185 persons on short trips, but the usual limit is around 150. The dining-room is small, he points out, but the usual practice when large parties are aboard is to have tables and chairs placed on deck, when about fifty can be accommodated at one time. The Bluenose, he says in his letter, is 145 feet long and has a width of twenty-seven feet.

CREW NUMBERS TEN

The crew of the Bluenose will number ten, including Captain Walters, three of whom would be boys, who would sell souvenirs and wait on guests. Fifty per cent of the guarantee price would have to be deposited in some chartered bank in Victoria, the balance to be in satisfactory guarantees.

The Bluenose, of which Captain Walters is part owner, was launched at Lunenburg in 1921. She was designed by W. J. Roue, of Halifax, and built by Smith & Ruhland, builders of many fishing schooners. Her keel was laid by the Duke of Devonshire. Since her first race in 1921, when she recovered the Fisherman's Trophy, the silverware has remained in Lunenburg.

Mr. Willis so far has been successful in raising a portion of the money to guarantee the coming of the Bluenose, but he is some distance from the goal yet. He stated yesterday that he would try to finance the Bluenose voyage by allotting a part of the guarantee to several of the leading Pacific Coast ports through Chambers of Commerce or other public bodies.

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP).—Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins, professor of biochemistry at the University of Cambridge, will go to the United States in September to give a series of lectures in the Medical School of Harvard University.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

There is an incomparable thrill in being able to both recognize the chance of a lifetime and make the most of it at the time, but it is the irony of life that such chances slip by unclaimed, and are rarely discerned until they are out of reach! It may be that just a little more nerve force would be equal to the opportunity, capture the responsible position, save an awkward situation, or turn aside a danger, for as often as not people fail to do, or say the right thing merely because they lack the nerve vitality which a timely use of Phosferine would promote. One thing is certain, everyone who makes the best of their ability and appearance by occasionally re-energizing the nervous system with Phosferine, will experience that confidence which wrests good fortune from the chance of a lifetime! Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

WANT TO GET TROPHY BACK

British Makers of Model Planes Going After Wakefield Cup

So great is the interest in model airplane flying in the British Isles that during the coming Summer, for the first time, a representative British team with British machines is to be sent to the United States in an effort to recapture the "blue riband" of model aeronautics, the Wakefield Cup.

Lord Wakefield himself has made this possible by a generous donation to a special fund created for the purpose by the Society of Model Aeronautical Engineers, the "M.C.C." of model flying.

INTERNATIONAL RIVALRY

The event is creating intense international rivalry. Elimination trials, open to any person of British nationality, wil be held at Fairey's Great West Aerodrome, on Sunday, May 17, from which the S.M.A.E. will have the responsibility of selecting the team, appointing a captain or team manager capable of coping diplomatically with the hundred and one details of organization, and arranging the safe and smooth conduct of the team to and from the United States.

The Wakefield Cup, as also the Admiral Moffett Trophy, which will probably be decided at Akron, Ohio, in June, is for rubber-driven (elastic) models only. Each model must rise from the ground from a standstill, entirely under its own power, no push whatever being permitted. It may be news to many that this and many other trophies have been competed for since 1928, and that model flying clubs are springing up in schools and communities all over the country, doing a great deal to make the younger generation "airminded" and being of additional value in the progress of design.

EXPANDS RAPIDLY

Already the scope of model airplane flying has expanded so rapidly that it has its own monthly journal, The Aero Modeller. The Air League of the British Empire (junior section), the "Skybird" League, and many clubs, societies and associations are reporting steadily increasing membership, and amateur designers and builders are achieving astonishing results in duration, speed and airworthiness.

Longshore Gangs Argue Now Over Number of Sacks

SEATTLE, March 12 (AP).—The longshore walkout on the steamship Everett broke anew today after the joint labor relations' committee of longshoremen and employers reported settling it yesterday. The committee will meet again tomorrow.

Two gangs, ordered to move thirty sacks of bean meal in a sling-load, refused. They contended there should only be twenty-four sacks.

DRIVERS UNABLE TO HEAR OTHER'S SIREN

HOUSTON, Texas, March 12 (AP).—Two ambulance drivers, hurrying to aid an injured women, sounded their sirens so loudly that neither heard the other and they crashed, injuring themselves and three others. One of the ambulances already had the woman patient. At last in a hospital, she had become so angry she left.

ASPEN LOGS ON ROAD TO INDIA

Cargo Will Be Reshipped When Freighter Tabian Reaches San Francisco

VANCOUVER, March 12 (CP).—Ms Tabian, which left here yesterday for South Africa, carried a consignment of aspen logs for transhipment at San Francisco to Ms Bengalen for India.

These logs, cut at Lesser Slave Lake, Alberta, and shipped here overland, were to be sent to India aboard the Ms. Silverhazel, but the vessel was lost on a reef in the Philippine Islands last Summer.

Several shipments of this timber have gone out on vessels of the Silver-Java-Pacific Line and will be used for making matches in factories in India.

Southern and Eastern British Columbia furnished a large amount of this match wood and one large parcel came down from Prince Rupert on Ss. Prince John.

RANGERS BEAT OUT WINGS TO STAY IN RUNNING

Fourteen Elevens Trying to Avoid League Demotion

Clubs Battling Against Odds to Remain in First Division in English League—Sunderland Appears to Have Title Clinched—Glasgow Rangers Meet Clyde Tomorrow

LONDON, March 12 (AP).—Decision of the English Football League to abandon its war against pool-betting sent soccer enthusiasts to old fixture lists this week with renewed zest. For the past two weeks they had been forced to wait until twenty-four hours before matches were scheduled to be played before games were announced. In all divisions of the league, with the exception of the second, the list of matches originally scheduled for February 29, will be played this week-end. Second leaguers will adhere to the games originally arranged for March 14.

HUGH GALLACHER

Sunderland, with an eight-point margin over its nearest rival, appears to be headed for the championship, but at the other end of the First Division table an intense struggle is being waged by fourteen clubs to avoid demotion at the end of the season. Only four points separate these clubs.

VILLA HOLDING ON

Expenditure of approximately $250,000 by directors of Aston Villa in an effort to improve the club's position has been justified in recent weeks. The colorful Midlanders have not lost a match on their own ground since December 12. Leeds United, badly hit through injuries, visits Villa Park, Saturday, and is likely to return empty-handed.

Return of Hughie Gallacher, star centre forward, appears to have acted as a tonic to the Derby County team. A victory for the County over Stoke City is probable. Sunderland will find it hard going against the cupholders, Sheffield Wednesday, in the Yorkshire city, and Arsenal will have to watch the Brothers O'Donnell closely at Preston. Scouts for the famous gunners have been in Scotland in search of new forwards, but so far their efforts have not been successful.

Strengthened by the transfer of M. Busby, Manchester City's international right halfback, Liverpool visits Huddersfield Town and the City makes the long journey south to oppose Brentford.

Chief interest in the Second Division centres in the struggle for promotion. Five teams are separated by only five points. Sheffield United, who aspire to cup as well as league honors, should capture two valuable points at Burnley, and Charlton, runner-up, is likely to do likewise against Southampton at Valley Parade.

In the Southern Section of the Third Division, Luton Town entertains Exeter City, and is likely to retain its one-point lead over Coventry City. Tranmere Rovers have a similar margin over Chesterfield in the Northern Section, but they will have to fight hard if they are to get even a point at Stockport. A change in the leadership is possible, as Chesterfield, at home, should have no difficulty in beating Gateshead.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW, March 12 (AP).—Officials of Glasgow Rangers and Clyde, First Division semi-finalists for the Scottish Football Cup, will have a fine opportunity of measuring their respective team strengths when the clubs meet at Ibrox Park in a scheduled league encounter Saturday.

Wednesday, the draw for the semi-final of the competition was announced, and the Shawfield Park team was stacked against the champions. Clyde's prospects are not considered particularly bright.

The other two leaders also have the advantage of playing on home grounds. Celtic, four points up on Rangers and Aberdeen, is visited by the fifth-place Motherwell squad while the Dons entertain Kilmarnock.

The season lasts only five more weeks, and it looks like a fight between Celtic and Rangers. The Celts' four-point lead is by no means safe, as the cupholders have played two games less. Aberdeen, although tied with Rangers, have played the same number of games as Celtic.

Reverting to the other end of the table a great struggle is going on between Clyde, Airdrieonians and Ayr United to avoid relegation. Hibernians, with one point less, occupy the cellar position. Airdrieonians have a tough away game with Third Lanark. Ayr United is at home to Dundee.

JOCK McAVOY FACES LEWIS THIS EVENING

English Fighter Slight Favorite to Win Light-Heavyweight Crown

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP).—Jock McAvoy, of Rochdale, Lancashire, says he intends to floor John Henry Lewis in their fifteen-round light-heavyweight championship bout here tomorrow night—and with him the ghost of the horizontal British fighter.

The school of thought which ponders his recent impressive showings on this side of the Atlantic, mainly his one-round knockout of Middleweight Champion Babe Risko, believes he will do it. He has been made a 10 to 9 favorite in the betting.

Another school which has been holding class at the Lewis training camp, in New Jersey, is deeply impressed by the champ's boxing skill, and confident Jock cannot jar the crown from the Arizona negro's curly head.

Salient facts are that Lewis will have the advantage in height, reach and weight—probably around ten pounds in the last-mentioned division. He is not a "knocker-outer," as McAvoy properly describes himself, but he has been proved over the long route of fifteen rounds.

Win or lose against Lewis, he is scheduled to leave for home shortly to meet Jack Peterson for the British heavyweight title.

George I. Warren was elected president of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club at the well-attended annual meeting held Wednesday evening at the Crystal Garden.

Reports on the past season's activities were submitted by the retiring officers and adopted.

President Warren and Secretary Jim McCague were named as delegates to attend the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Swimming Association meeting, at Vancouver on Saturday, April 4.

The complete slate of officers follows: President, George I. Warren; vice-presidents, Doreen Dale-Johnson and Phil Bond; club captain, Robert Moss; vice-captain, Monica Trump; club coach, C. S. McFayden; diving coach, Phil Bond; life-saving instructor, W. T. Stanton, and executive members, Lillian McCall, Rae Saunders, Douglas Hill-Tout and W. H. Dyer.

Whopper Captures Handicap Event

This remarkable photo of the finish of the $10,000 San Capistrano Handicap at Santa Anita race track, California, shows the four-year-old colt, Whopper, winning with a veritable "flying finish" as Tick On and Ariel Cross finish second and third, respectively. In the background, the towering foothills provide a striking skyline for one of the most attractive racing plants in the world.

Pirates Depending on Todd to Gain Pennant

Big Weakness of Last Season Remedied With the Addition of New Backstop—Strong Pitching Staff Is Ready for Opening

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 12 (AP).—Alfred Chester Todd, a stony visaged catcher, holds the pennant hopes of Pittsburgh Pirates in his big mitt. He'll be "quarterback" for a crew of veterans in his freshman year with the club. "Last year we finished fourth," mused Manager "Pie" Traynor. "It wasn't the pitching—it wasn't the hitting. It was trouble behind the plate. We believe we have the solution in Todd, and it looks as if Cy Blanton and Bill Swift, the league's two leading pitchers in effectiveness last year, will have great seasons," Traynor said. "They won thirty-three games last year and should do even better."

WAITE HOYT

Ready for a regular berth is Mace Brown from Tulsa of the Texas League, who won four and lost one with the Pirates last year. John Tising appears the cream of the freshman crop.

The veterans, Jim Weaver, Guy Bush, "Red" Lucas and Ralph Birkofer, round out the list of mainstays, with Waite Hoyt for relief.

TO BE DIFFERENT

"Last year we finished last in double plays. It'll be different this year. 'Pep' Young at second will see to that. He'll climb four or five notches in that department," Traynor predicted.

The veteran "Pie" will be in the Traynor-to-Vaughan-to-Shur combination. Traynor will start at third, with Wilbur Brubaker from Kansas City in reserve.

"Arky" Vaughan, whose .385 average led the league last year, is damaging fences in practice. James Earl Browne, who socked .344 as first sacker for Little Rock in the Southern Association, and the giant Bernard Cobb, slugging first baseman of Fort Wayne with a .382 average, look good to Traynor.

Paul Waner will roam right field and Forrest Jensen has left field cinched. The centre field post, vacant while Lloyd Waner recovers from pneumonia that will keep him out at least two months, goes to Fred Schulte, waived out of the American League by Washington, or Daniel Hafey, possessor of one of the best throwing arms in baseball.

STAINFORTH TOPS FIELD

Mrs. Irwin's Horse Takes Feature by Finishing Well in Front

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12 (AP).—Stainforth, four-year-old chocolate gelding owned by Mrs. C. B. Irwin, of Cheyenne, won today's feature race at Tanforan track by five lengths. The time for the six furlongs was 1:12 2-5.

The winner galloped home with a commanding lead. Chatter Queen took second and Sweet Chariot was third.

Stainforth paid $6.20, $3.40 and $3.00. Chatter Queen $3.20 and $3.00 and Sweet Chariot $6.80.

Weights for the $5,000 added San Francisco Handicap, Saturday, were announced, with Azucar, Fred M. Alger's Santa Anita Handicap winner of a year ago being assigned top impost of 124 pounds.

Thursday was given 115 pounds and Tick On 112 pounds. Other nominations for the mile and one-sixteenth feature were weighted as follows: Riskulus, 109; Special Agent, 105; Slapped, 104; Seguro, 100; Ann O'Ruley, 100; Ebony Lady, 98; Coldwater, 97, and Indian Broom, 94.

OTT HELLER'S GOAL IN EXTRA SESSION DECIDES FINE WIN

Nets Marker in Overtime to Keep New York Club Within Striking Distance of Play-Off Position —Game Ends 4-3—Leafs Trim Canadiens, 6-3—Maroons and Hawks in Draw

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP).—Ott Heller tonight kept New York Rangers within striking distance of a Stanley Cup play-off berth by banging in the winning goal to give the Blue Shirts a 4-3 overtime win over Detroit in a National Hockey League game here. Some 7,000 fans shrieked their acclaim as Heller broke the deadlock with only two minutes of the overtime period left.

OTT HELLER

The victory put Rangers within one point of Boston Bruins, the team Rangers must beat out for a play-off position in the United States division.

Aside from a lapse in the second period, Rangers had an edge on the play. But with the score 3-0, halfway through the second period, they let Detroit come within one goal of them. Syd Howe scoring twice to match a first-period counter by Bill Cook, and one in the second frame by Butch Keeling. Rangers' third goal came from Lynn Patrick.

Detroit tied it up midway through the third period, Herbie Lewis converting a pass from Marty Barry while Heller served a penalty.

BILL THOMS STARS

MONTREAL, March 12 (AP).—Toronto Maple Leafs, with curly-headed Bill Thoms playing the star role, staged a six-goal scoring outburst in the third period here tonight to defeat Montreal Canadiens, 6-3, and virtually all hopes of the French team entering the National Hockey League play-offs.

Thoms was the hero of a dazzling assault, scoring three goals himself and passing to Buzz Boll for a fourth. The centre player's sniping made him the first player in the league to score twenty goals this season. His total was boosted to twenty-one. Charlie Conacher, of the Leafs, raised his total to twenty with one goal.

Leroy Goldsworthy and Jack McGill scored the goals that gave the Habitants an early lead.

Thoms opened an attack that netted six goals and put Toronto alone on top of the standing, leading Maroons by a single point. The centre star bagged two within two and a half minutes, the first on Horner's pass.

Aurel Joliat put Canadiens ahead again, but Joe Primeau scored with a long shot and Conacher sent Toronto ahead for keeps on Boll's pass. Boll and Thoms both scored in the final minute.

MAROONS, 7 DRAW

CHICAGO, March 12 (AP).—Montreal's Maroons staged a gallant comeback tonight to gain a 3-3 overtime tie with the Chicago Black Hawks in a hotly-contested National Hockey League match played before 12,000 spectators in the Stadium.

Goals by Earl Seibert and Johnny Gottselig in the first period while Lionel Conacher was doing time in the penalty box sent the Hawks off to a 2-0 lead, and the situation appeared safely under control from the Chicago angle.

Dave Trottier converted a pass from Russ Blinco midway of the second session, but Alex Levinsky scored his first goal of the season to make it 3-1.

The Maroons cut the margin to one goal late in the second period on Baldy Northcott's goal, and tied it up early in the third when Herb Cain, assisted by Gus Marker and Bob Gracie, beat Goalie Mike Karakas on a neatly-executed play.

Raymond Union Jacks Decide to Stay in Canadian Cage Play-Offs

RAYMOND, Alta., March 12 (AP).—Raymond Union Jacks, Alberta champions, will stay in the race for the Canadian senior basketball title and will participate in the play-downs, according to L. Macphee, president of the Raymond Athletic Association.

He denied a report the Jacks would withdraw from the title hunt because of the heavy financial guarantee necessary to bring the British Columbia champions East.

"The Raymond team," he said, "will proceed as far as possible in the play-offs. No mention has ever been made of defaulting."

DOMINOES ON EDGE FOR BIG GAME THIS EVENING

Face Province in First of British Columbia Series

Dominion Basketball Champions in Great Condition for Opening of Important Play-Off With Mainland Titleholders at High Gym—Preliminary Set—Doors to Open at 7:15

Never in better condition, not over-confident but mighty determined, Dave Nicol's Victoria Dominoes, rulers of Canada's vast basketball domain, will go gunning for another British Columbia senior men's basketball crown tonight at the Victoria High School gymnasium, when they step on the maple court to face Vancouver Province, Mainland winners, in the first of a scheduled three-out-of-five-game series. Duncan intermediates will clash with Lake Hill in the preliminary, which starts at 8 o'clock, followed by the main event around 9 o'clock.

DAVE NICOL

Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District League, announced last night that doors will be open at 7:15 and that all ticket-holders are urged to be early so as to avoid confusion.

With the Dominion title at stake in this series, interest is running at such a high pitch that the High gymnasium is far too small to accommodate the crowd. Hundreds have been trying to get tickets during the past fortnight but their efforts have been fruitless. However, standing room will be available tonight at the door and it will be a case of "first come, first served."

VISITORS STRONG

Boasting of a strong team in every department, one which lifted the Canadian title three season's ago in Montreal, the Province set the pace in the Vancouver League this year and ended their campaign by beating out New Westminster Adanacs in a five-game series. The newsies won the first two fixtures but a fighting Adanac crew rallied to even the series, but again superior teamwork and shooting ability decided the winners in the fifth and final game. Not rated as a fast-breaking club, the visitors are deliberate, their passing being accurate and markmanship deadly, especially under the twine. Going in for rebounds is one of their big assets in notching much-needed points, but they will have to do some smart manoeuvring tonight to get them off the Dominoes' back board.

Tony Osborne, Eddie Armstrong and "Red" Macdonnell are Vancouver's three rearguard men. Just who will start remains a mystery. Osborne was with Varsity's great squad of last season, which the locals managed to beat out after a hectic series, while Armstrong and Macdonnell are old standbys for the newspaper quintette. Jack Purves, high scoring star, will jump at centre, flanked by Russ Kennington and Arnie Bumsted. Dick Wright, Fred Smith, Norm Wills and McLeod are the rest of the personnel. Wright may open on the back division with one of the trio mentioned above. Manager "Chuck" McGillivary and Coach "Chuck" Jones will be along with the squad.

DOMINOES ALL SET

Finishing off their training sessions earlier this week, Manager Nicol reported yesterday that his team was "fit as a fiddle and raring to go." His squad needs no introduction to Victorians. Everybody interested in the game knows them, their record, ability and stamina. Towering "Chuck" Chapman, captain, and Doug Peden, clever scoring guard, will start at their regular positions. This is one of the most powerful pair of defenders in the game on Canadian soil, which means Province's wing forwards are going to be in for a tough evening.

Art Chapman will look after the pivot position and at the same time take care of Mr. Purves, who has a reputation of potting them on the Mainland. Art is capable of the two tasks, that of holding his man and scoring at the same time.

On one wing position will be "Porky" Andrews, the lad who winds up at the opening whistle and never stops until the final gong, and on the other wing will be the smart-shifting Albert "Red" Martin. This trio has everything a coach would desire, speed, cleverness, uncanny shooting ability and smart defensive work. On the bench ready for duty will be Alex McKeachie, Jack Mottishaw, Axel Kinnear and Ollie Goldsmith.

Wally Stipe, Victoria, and Ralph Thomas, Vancouver, will referee.

The second game of the series will be held on the same floor tomorrow evening, and then the teams shift to the Mainland, where they resume activities the following Friday.

THREE BOUTS ARE LINED UP FOR MAT FANS

Plenty of Action Promised Tomorrow Evening at Tillicum Gymnasium

Action galore, coupled with clever wrestling, is promised Victoria mat fans who make their way to the Tillicum gymnasium tomorrow evening to witness Promoter Fred Richardson's all-star heavyweight grappling card.

Heading the attractive programme will be Vincent Lopez, curly-haired Mexican, recognized in California and sixteen other states as the world champion, and good-looking Mayes McLain, former all-American grid star.

Ponderous "Wee" Willie Davis, 260-pound, Norfolk, Virginia, squirmer, returns for the semi-windup, where he will match holds with Rudy Strongburg, St. Louis, matman, in the five eight-minute round bout.

Chief Thunderbird, popular Saanich Indian, who shows improvement in his every Victoria performance, and Dr. Leo Burke, rugged Tacoma grappler, have been booked for the five six-minute round special event, and will open the show at 8:45 o'clock.

COLORFUL WRESTLER

Lopez, a protege of Ed "Strangler" Lewis, four times ruler of the heavyweight division, is one of the most colorful men in the mat business today. Young, fast, clever and well versed in all the tricks of the bone-bending game, Lopez is the leading heavyweight to be brought to these parts for many a day.

Mayes McLain, who has been matched with the championship claimant, is a smart wrestler with a punishing flying tackle that he executes in fine fashion. The former all-America gridder has yet to taste defeat in the local ring, and tomorrow will be out to add Lopez to his Victoria victims.

Tickets for the show have been moving rapidly, and present indications point to the season's biggest crowd when the big boys get into action.

Security Prices Drop Heavily at New York Mart

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP).—On heavier turnover, stocks lurched downhill today for the wildest losses since July 26, 1934.

Analysts said the selling was prompted primarily by the threat of Reichsfuehrer Hitler to withdraw his recent peace offers if other powers attempted to compel Germany to yield any of her sovereign rights, including that of moving troops within German territory.

Reports in brokerage circles indicated the increased unrest had resulted lately in a sizeable number of stop-loss orders and that the barrage of selling after noon had touched these orders off.

At the close a large scattering of market leaders were nursing losses of 1 to 3 points or so, while a few had even deeper cuts.

In terms of the Associated Press average of sixty shares the market was down 1.7 to 61.1. The largest previous loss—2.9 points on July 26, 1934—occurred following the assassination of Premier Dollfuss of Austria when Italian troops were moved to the Austrian border.

Some market observers insisted that the share market had seized on the day's foreign developments as an "excuse" for a downward correction following the persistent and virtually uninterrupted advance since March, 1935.

Transactions totaled 2,921,550 shares, compared with 2,204,390 on Wednesday.

Rapidly-moving developments in Franco-German situation brought sharply lower prices in sections of the bond market.

Losers of 1 to around 6 points included Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2's at 72 1-2; Illinois Central 4 3-4's at 74; Paramount 6's at 87, and American & Foreign Power 5's at 80 1-4.

Foreign bonds under pressure included Belgium 6's at 103 3-4; German 7's at 35 1-4; Japanese 5 1-2's at 82 1-4 and the 6 1-2's at 96 1-4. British and French bonds were inactive.

WHEAT PRICES UP ONE CENT

Heavy Buying Orders Send Futures Ahead at Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG, March 12 (CP).—Wheat traders tonight adjusted themselves to the prospect of an improved overseas demand for Canadian wheat. Old world inquiry imparted an atmosphere of post-war year markets into today's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange with substantial price upturns.

Deluged with buying orders market operators estimated 2,000,000 bushels of wheat were sold during an active session today to bring the total for the past two days to more than 3,000,000 bushels. The broad scale interest resulted in gains of 1 to 1 1-4 cents at the close.

The May future finished at 85 1-2, July 86 1-4 to 86 3-8 and October 86 1-4. Strong at the opening purchasing cropped out on a wide scale as the session advanced.

The cash wheat and coarse grains markets scored fractional advances.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"KING COTTON"

Staples come and staples go, but cotton continues, now as ever, to sway the fortunes of governments and peoples.

Cotton, upon which hang the destinies particularly of the southern of the United States and of Lancashire, and perhaps England itself, while always recognized for its vital importance in the scheme of nations, first achieved popular recognition of its place through the publication in 1855 of "Cotton Is King; or, Slavery in the Light of Political Economy," by David Christy.

Three years later, in 1858, James H. Hammond, in the United States Senate, used the phrase "King Cotton" in a similar connection.

From that time on, the expression became a by-word all over the world.

Premier Pattullo Assures Employees Health Bill Will Not Disturb Them

VANCOUVER, March 12—Definite assurance that the functions of the Canadian Pacific Railway Employees Medical Association in British Columbia, would not be disturbed by any action arising out of the proposed Health Insurance Bill, was stated yesterday by Premier T. D. Pattullo, to representatives of the association and railway brotherhoods.

CONTINUE BENEFITS

The case for the Canadian Pacific Railway employees of whom there are 6,000 affected was laid before the cabinet yesterday by A. M. Innes wharf freight agent and association treasurer, who pointed out that his company employees, through their medical organization, had been given all the benefits proposed by the Health Insurance Act, for the past thirty years, and that they were in a better position to continue giving these benefits much more economically that the Government could do.

GROUPS REPRESENTED

The committee approaching the Government were G. Lyle, president, board of management, Canadian Pacific Railway Employees Medical Association, A. Ross, J. Brodie and A. M. Innes. Accompanying them were H. Elliott, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, A. Sutherland, Brotherhood Railway Trainmen, and A. H. Isaac, Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

PROJECT DRAWS BOTH PRAISE AND COMPLAINT

Two letters, one of commendation and one of criticism on the same project, were received by the Victoria school board Wednesday night.

Praise for the extension of the playground at Quadra Street School was contained in a communication from the school Parent-Teacher Association, while a near-by-resident complained of the work as a detriment to his property.

Both letters were received and filed without comment, although a report from the buildings and grounds committee may be filed on the complaint.

Jane Dixon Says:

I DO NOT AGREE WITH OFTEN-HEARD STATEMENT THAT, COWARDS ARE BORN, NOT MADE

A girl writes, asking me to cure her of cowardice.

She calls her ailment "timidity," shyness," any number of names except what it really is.

She says she was born with this mark of the coward on her, just as some are born with birth marks.

I dispute this statement.

It's an excuse—if you have a weak streak and are looking for a straw to help you swim—but it is so much poppy-cock to those of us who know we have to step out and meet life face to face and eye to eye if we are going to get what life offers us, by way of happiness and of success.

I've heard a lot about cowards who are born, not made.

Men who went over the top in the World War have told me about buddies of theirs who were great fellows, keen, provocative, quick to resent, humorous, the life of the company—until the big guns boomed.

Then they went yellow. They trembled and whined and ran backward.

IS THE DIAGNOSIS WRONG?

The general diagnosis of such behaviour is congenital cowardice.

I can only conclude that the poor cowards' buddies wanted to be kind. For their own morale, they wanted to find an explanation for such saffron conduct in the face of fire.

I don't agree with them.

Born with a normal body and a normal mind, we are the cowards we make ourselves or allow ourselves to be made.

Dear Jane Dixon: I believe it runs in our family line to be timid and to be afraid to fight for what we want.

My grandmother, who is now near eighty years old, loved a young man in her youth and was afraid to admit it. She says she never has forgotten him.

My mother, her daughter, who now is sixty-odd, loved a boy, but she was afraid or too timid to admit it and she, too, failed to find her real love.

They both married and raised families.

My sister, now thirty, also loved, but couldn't admit it to the young man she loved. They are both single. I doubt that either ever will marry.

I'm twenty-three. I don't want my life to be as theirs has been, but I fear this is what will happen unless something is done about it.

I fell in love at sixteen with a man many years my senior. He loved me, too, and told me so, but though I adored him, I couldn't let him know. In fact, I gave just the opposite impression. Yet I'm sure no one since the beginning of the world could have loved a man more completely or sincerely.

REFUSED ONCE TOO OFTEN

He went away and came back when I was eighteen. He tried again, but, though my heart was so hungry for him I could have screamed, I repulsed him.

So what?

So he went away and married another girl, my same age. He brought his bride to our home to introduce her. I thought I must die. I'd promised myself when he came back I'd tell him the truth—that I loved him. It was too late.

Since that time I have heard that his marriage has not been a success, that he is living apart from his wife. If he is I want to find him. If he is happy in his marriage, God bless them both.—L.B.

DOESN'T DESERVE TO FIND HIM

Answer: You don't deserve to find him, but if he is rattling around unhappily, by reason of your cowardice, as you are doing, I hope you do find him. You might be able to make amends.

You were not born a coward. With the unfortunate examples of cowardice before you, you should have been a strong woman.

You're a failure in love because you lack the strength and the spirit to fight for that which is your birthright.

Why don't you shake yourself up and get into action?

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Prince Albert in Win Over Luscar

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 12 (CP)—Prince Albert Mintos scored a 6-3 victory over Luscar Indians here tonight in the first of a best-of-three series in the inter-provincial playdowns.

Mintos, Saskatchewan champions, took an early lead and pressed hard for advantage over Indians, Alberta titlists. The teams move to Calgary for the second game of the series, Saturday night, and the third, if necessary, also will be played in the Alberta city.

Mintos rapped in two quick goals in the first period and added three more in the second before the Alberta squad ran in their three goals. The only goal of the final period gave Mintos their three-goal margin of victory.

"Hope It's Last," Says Mother of Twentieth Child

LOS ANGELES, March 12 (AP)—Patrick Alkire, weighing 7 lbs. 2 oz., made his appearance yesterday, the twentieth child born to Mrs. Rachael Alkire, forty-one.

Said the mother: "I hope he is the last child."

Training Camp Gossip

(By the Associated Press)

Clearwater, Fla.—Jim Bucher, the former second baseman, may hold down third base for the Dodgers this season, instead of the holdout, Joe Stripp; Freddy Lindstrom or Rookie Frank Skaff. A heavy hitter despite his lack of weight, Bucher also did some flashy third basing in yesterday's practice game.

Pensacola, Fla.—Dick Bartell, who claims his hitting slump last year was the result of trying to use a set of bats that didn't follow the proper specifications, appears to be proving his point. In the Giants' intra-camp game yesterday he smacked a double and two singles and drew a pass his other time up.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Pat Malone, Yankee veteran, is making a great effort this Spring to repay Manager Joe McCarthy for carrying him through last season. He takes the mound every time he gets a chance, runs around the park, does individual setting-up exercises and takes part in pepper games. His pitching this Spring has reflected the extra effort to get into condition.

Fort Myers, Fla.—Connie Mack liked the work of Bill Dietrich against the St. Louis Cards in a grapefruit league game yesterday. Dietrich held the Cards hitless in four innings, only twelve batsmen facing him. Bob Johnson and George Puccinello were hot at bat.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Bees, admits he would like to buy the Dean brothers, but he doesn't want to "be guilty of making an offer to buy holdout ball players." For that reason he won't visit Bradenton to discuss the situation. "But," he adds, "just let them just as much as whisper that either Dean or both are for sale."

Bradenton, Fla. — The Cardinals planned only routine practice today in preparation for their exhibition game with the Phillies tomorrow. They took the Athletics into camp, 9 to 8, yesterday, despite being held hitless for four frames.

Clearwater, Fla. — Brooklyn and Philadelphia inaugurated their exhibition baseball schedule today with a typical Dodger-Phillie game, the Dodgers finally winning, 11-7. Brooklyn pounded four Philadelphia pitchers for twelve hits, including home runs by Freddie Lindstrom, Vincent Sherlock and Danny Taylor.

The score:

		R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	005 000 200—	7	10	3
Brooklyn	120 125 00x—	11	12	3

Batteries — Passeau, Mulcahy, Grabowski, Melton and Grace, Wilson; Earnshaw, Osborne and Phelps, Berres.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

WHY THE BATTLE AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS IS SUCCESSFUL

"In the past twenty-five years' combat against the enemy (tuberculosis) we have acquired many valuable weapons. Twenty-five years ago there was practically no way of separating tuberculosis patients from other people. Today there are 8,700 beds in 660 hospitals for tuberculosis. Twenty-five years ago the people were entirely ignorant about tuberculosis, their mental reaction being one of superstitious fear. Today nearly every one understands how to guard against tuberculosis. Even the size of the tuberculosis problem has shrunken, for twenty-five years ago there were, in relation or proportion to the population, three times as many deaths and cases of tuberculosis as there are now."

I am quoting Dr. H. E. Kleinschmit, Director of Health Education for the National Tuberculosis Association, New York.

Now, how is this great battle with that great scourge—tuberculosis, consumption, the white plague as it is variously called—being so successfully fought?

Just as a fire at its beginning can often be easily put out, so also can tuberculosis be cured and prevented if discovered early. Not only does the present-day physician know more about tuberculosis than was known years ago, but he has a wonderful help in the X-ray, which enables him to tell whether or not the case is tuberculosis much earlier, which in turn gives the patient a better chance of being restored to health and at the same time prevents his needlessly infecting others.

However, notwithstanding all this success in fighting tuberculosis there is still that group of young people, fifteen to twenty years of age, in which the fight has not been very successful. And one of the main reasons for this losing fight is the refusal of our young girls, just emerging into womanhood, to eat enough food for proper nourishment, because they want to remain "slim" or slender.

Mothers and physicians pointing out the danger of this trying to keep slim doesn't seem to make much impression. However, the fact that theatrical producers and movie directors are not wanting thin or "skinny" girls for their productions any more may be a great boon to our teen age girls. Thinness will not be fashionable.

Dr. Wood's NORWAY PINE SYRUP

The Danger of Cough Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately it may eventually cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cold or cough the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup just the remedy required.

Its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm in such that the trouble may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in.

Children like it; take it without any fuss.

LEAVING SOON FOR OLD LAND

Rev. J. B. Rowell to Spend Four Months Overseas—Granted Degree S.T.D.

REV. J. B. ROWELL

The reception of the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology and a visit to his homeland will be included in the experiences of Rev. J. B. Rowell, pastor of Central Baptist Church, during the coming months.

After fifteen years of absence from England, eight of which have been spent in Victoria, Mr. Rowell expects to visit his home town of Bournemouth, see members of his family and fulfill a number of preaching engagements at Bible conferences and other openings in various parts of Britain.

As the result of a study course extending over some time, Mr. Rowell will be granted the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology by the Los Angeles Baptist Theological Seminary at the commencement exercises on May 24. His thesis in this course was "The Epistle to the Hebrews and Its Difficulties." Mr. Rowell was requested to deliver the commencement address, but was compelled to decline on account of the travel engagement. The degree of Bachelor of Theology was conferred on him last year by the same institution.

Mr. Rowell will leave the city on March 30, and, after a preaching engagement in Philadelphia as arranged by Dr. Charles G. Trumbull, editor of The Sunday School Times, will sail from New York. He expects to return to Victoria in August.

Several able Bible teachers will conduct conferences at the Pondora Avenue Church during his absence. The first of these will be conducted April 5-10 by Rev. Herbert Lockyer, of Liverpool, a member of the extension department of the Moody Bible Institute; Evangelist Tom Rea, of Belfast; Roy L. Brown, of Dallas, Texas, and Rev. William Lamb, of Australia, will follow.

ORGANS OF CHILD IN WRONG PLACE

Rare Surgical Operation Removes Them From Left Lung and Babe Is Recovering

OAKLAND, Cal., March 12 (A.P.).—As the result of a rare surgical operation, Gary Roethler, two and a half years old, born with his internal organs in his left lung, was recovering today.

A surgeon, who requested his name be withheld, found to his astonishment the child had been breathing with only one lung since birth.

LOCATED IN LUNG

Gary's organs, including his stomach, spleen and intestines, were in his left lung. The lung was unable to expand and the heart also had been pushed over to the right side.

The surgeon carefully cut away three ribs and performed the delicate operation, using fascia or connective tissue from the mother's body.
